

FIRST NATIONAL BANKS' STAND IS EXPLAINED

The Los Angeles banks have brought many inquiries from the public as to whether or not our First National or all First National banks were being consolidated under the name of "The First National Consolidated." It is evident that a branch of any consolidated institution with such a title would not be referred to as the branch of the First National Consolidated Bank and Trust company of Los Angeles, but the title would be abbreviated to "First National" for all practical purposes.

"We have no objection to the proposed consolidation of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank and the First National Bank of Los Angeles, or their operation in Santa Ana, nor have we any objection to the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings bank changing its name, so long as it does not infringe or usurp our well defined property rights.

Hearing September 15
"The interested First National banks in localities where the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings bank now maintains a branch, through their attorney, Oscar Lawler, of Los Angeles, attempted to prevent the necessity of legal proceedings through conference and, failing in this, resorted to an appeal to Chief Justice McCoy, of the superior court of the District of Columbia, for an order requesting the comptroller of the currency to show cause for the proposed merger under the title using the words 'First National.' This order is set for hearing, in Washington, September 15. It is the intention of these banks to protect their name 'First National' through all available legal processes. The First National banks outside of Los Angeles hold charters which have been granted them by the federal government to operate under the name of 'First National.' One of these charters was granted as early as 1873, one in 1875, two in 1886 and others from that date up to 1925. We all feel that a foreign invasion should be resisted to the fullest extent of legal processes available."

FORMER TELLER IN L. A. BANK ARRESTED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—F. Harold Flynn, 24, former teller of the Merchants' National Trust and Savings bank branch, charged with embezzling $4200, was taken into custody here today by national bank examiners.

According to Deputy U. S. Marshal Vincent Mangerina, Flynn is asserted to have admitted the shortage in his accounts and resigned from his position several months ago, declaring he would pay the money back.

Flynn said his parents had sold their home in order to help raise the funds, which he took in small amounts to help his father, who was out of work.

He hopes to secure a probation term in order that he can work and earn the balance of the money.

ENGLISH YOUTHS TO VISIT CANADA, U. S.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—A group of English public school boys will leave Liverpool aboard the White Star liner Albatross for a tour of Canada and the United States. The party will be under the supervision of Rev. E. S. Fellowes-Farrow, of Cambridge; and Rev. Howard J. Rose, of Oxford.

The tour has been organized for the purpose of bringing together the youth of England and North America during the formative, adolescent years of school life. It will begin on the arrival of the party at Montreal where places of historic interest will be visited. From there the boys will go to Ottawa, Algonquin Park, Toronto, Niagara Falls and New York. The return will be made from New York on the Majestic.

All of the boys making the trip are prospective candidates for either Oxford or Cambridge.

Bold Air Bandits Are New Danger

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Piracy on the high seas, and highway robbery are now things of the past and air-pirates are the danger of today.

To meet this new menace the pilots of bullion-carrying aircraft of the British Imperial Airways Limited, are being armed with revolvers.

Ostensibly the idea is that in the event of a forced landing away from a recognized aerodrome among unscrupulous people, the pilot and crew must obviously be able to protect themselves.

There is, however, the fear that a thieves' gang learning of the shipment of many millions of dollars in bullion might endeavor to raid the plane, either by a battle in the air or by causing the bullion-carrying machine to make a false landing by showing landing flares where there is no landing place.

native"—which, in fact, they are. It is partly in the fact that English-speaking Chinese have usually studied in England or America, while most Japanese study at home. It is chiefly, no doubt, in the sound-structures of their own languages. Chinese, in most of its dialects, is an open-mouthed articulated language. Japanese is close-mouthed, with indistinct consonants and many obscure vowels. In grammatical make-up, Japanese is far nearer to a European language. In physical sounds it is not. The result is that Chinese win by the very excellence of their English, and Japanese are handicapped by the lack of it.

him to make an untruthful statement. It was untrue that I was attempting to get the authorities to collect some money for me and that I was irritated because they would not. Moreover, it was not true that the prisoner struck by Mr. Flower was cursing. Neither Mrs. Roper nor myself heard any profanity from him. We did hear him ask three times, that the handcuffs be removed. And he said "please" each time.

"Not To Collect Money"

"As to the occasion for my visit to the jail, I can furnish plenty of proof that it was not to collect money. A boy employed by me had embezzled funds I took up his case with the authorities with the idea of not being too harsh with him. First, I telephoned to Mrs. Allen, of the probation department, who telephoned to the jail, saying that I would bring the boy there for the jailers to take charge of over night. We brought the boy there and discussed the case with Flower, an agreement finally being reached between us, including Mrs. Allen, that if the boy might reform and have a good record in the future, it would be best not to place a stain upon him by keeping him in jail over night. The matter of collecting money was not mentioned.

"I believe that in all fairness, the truth of this matter should be known, as it seems wholly unfair that a citizen cannot do his duty as such without risking injury to his reputation and business."

RESOURCES PASS 26 BILLION MARK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Total resources of national banks of the United States, Alaska and Hawaii passed the $26,000,000,000 mark on June 30, the date of the last bank call. Comptroller of Currency McIntosh announced today.

Resources of the 7796 reporting national banks totaled $26,581,943,000, compared with $25,699,147,000 on March 23, the date of the last previous call. Loans and discounts, including rediscounts, amounted to $13,955,696,000, an increase of $308,056,000 over March 23.

AIRPLANE WEDDINGS ARE CALLED VULGAR

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—The "Reichsbote," which bears the sub-title "Daily Organ for Evangelical Germany," and speaks for a large part of the country's Protestant population, calls airplane marriages "coarse nuisances."

The denunciation was called forth by the announcement of the double wedding in an airplane of two officials of the Rohrbach airplane works. This followed closely upon the recent first airplane marriage in Germany of Heinz Orlovius, publicity chief of the Lufthansa.

The paper finds it "the limit of poor taste" for a pastor to don his official robe to perform the ceremony up in the air, and to permit the rigging up of an altar in the plane. It threatens, "Should the report of this shocking event prove true we shall expect the church authorities to take a hand and stop the nuisance."

The "Deutsche Tageszeitung," organ of the German Farmers' league, criticizes airplane marriages in a similar vein.

No Blame Placed In Vessel Crash

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—Nobody was to blame for the recent collision of the dynamite-laden steam schooner Pacific Trader just outside the Golden Gate, the federal steamboat inspectors announced today, closing their investigation. They held the crash due to dense fog and a current that drew the vessels together. The Northland was abandoned for a while, but later was beached and the explosive cargo salvaged.

ASKS RECEIVER BE NAMED FOR S.S.A. CONCERNS

Requesting that a receiver be appointed for three Santa Ana corporations, Pete Krauch, of Santa Ana, instituted proceedings today in the superior court against these firms and also against C. A. Waymire, the other member of an asserted partnership with Krauch, because of Waymire's supposed refusal to make an accounting of the partnership funds, part of which are said to be in the hands of one of the corporations.

The Holley Sugar company, the California Packing company and the Santa Ana Gardens are the companies named by Krauch in the receivership request. Diehl and Anderson, his attorneys, have obtained an order from Judge E. J. Marks, of the superior court, for the appearance of the defendants tomorrow at 2 p. m. to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed.

Krauch's attorneys stated today that he is attempting to take action through these corporations against Waymire because, it is asserted, crops raised by the partners on 300 acres of land at the Santa Ana gardens have been or will be delivered to these companies. Waymire is said to have refused to account for the partnership funds and in order to prevent settlement with the latter for the crops, before an agreement is reached by the partners, Krauch has taken steps to have a receiver appointed, his attorneys explained. The estimated value of the crops is between $6000 and $7000, the attorneys stated in which Krauch is said to have a half interest. Part of the beet crop raised on the land has been delivered to the Holley Sugar company's plant at Dyer. The remainder of the harvest will be peppers, which are expected to be taken to the California Packing company plant in Santa Ana.

G. D. Little, auditor at the sugar company offices, stated today that the only concern of that company with the proceedings is the fact that payment for the sugar beets raised by the partners cannot be made until the court action is settled.

Diehl and Anderson, attorneys for Krauch, pointed out that the management or financial condition of the sugar company and the California Packing company is not being questioned. But, only by acting through these corporations, they stated, could Krauch hope to reach a satisfactory settlement with Waymire, his partner, owing to the fact that the partnership funds from crop sales are or may be in the hands of these companies.

Square Scarf Is Worn Sideways

PARIS, Aug. 11.—The scarf, Paris says, is only as good as you wear it.

This season's style for the square kerchief scarf is sideways, with the point on the right shoulder, and a sailor knot on the left. The handkerchief scarfs are shown in a variety of styles, often made up of the same material as the dress and finished with a contrasting border.

Girl Tells Tragic Story Of Kidnaping

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—Relating a tragic story of kidnaping by four Mexicans, who held her prisoner for two months, Julia Theresa Davis, 12, was in a serious condition in a hospital here today.

Arthur Guerrero, said to be a professional boxer known as "Battling Arturo," was held by police pending a thorough investigation into the kidnaping story told by the child and corroborated by Anna Goette, 16-year-old San Diego run-away.

The Davis girl was found drugged in a water front shack when police, led by the Goette girl, battered down the doors of the shack in San Pedro and took Guerrero into custody.

Pete Sperriko was taken into custody later as a second suspect.

Golf and boxing are sports virtually unknown in Russia.

Doll Making Is Chief Industry
Of Poor People

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—Thuringia, and especially the town of Sonne-berg, may be said to be the birthplace of the doll. Most of the poorer families are engaged in the manufacture of dolls, and from this industry is derived the chief revenue of the population. The work demands a great deal of skill and practice.

The inhabitants begin early in youth to learn the art of making dolls. By constant practice they eventually become able to work with amazing speed and accuracy. In the doll industry only some special part of the doll is made by each person.

Some make the bodies, others the heads and still others the arms or hands.

The heads are first molded, and when sufficiently dry the eyes are cut out by a skilled worker with a very thin, sharp knife. This is extremely delicate work, since all the sockets must be of uniform size or the eyes do not fit.

PAN-ASIATIC
PHILIPPINES

MANILA, Aug. 11.—The Pan-Asiatic movement, with its favor of Bolshevism and nourished by racial animosity, has apparently passed over the Philippines without taking root.

Senator Quezon and other Filipino leaders, in interviews with the United Press and public speeches, have frequently acknowledged human curiosity about the movement but never an aggressive, active interest.

Recent declarations of Admiral Sommer Kettle and other American officials, to the effect that radical Filipino societies have been plotting the destruction of naval ammunition supplies and other violence, have thrown the spotlight on what appears to be a vast, powerful, unorganized "pan-Asiatic movement" bound together by a growing sense of unity against foreign domination.

Signs of the existence of a sympathetic pan-Asiatic union are unmistakable. The headquarters of the secret service in Manila has a great mass of records, photographs and documents indicating that radical and anti-foreign agitators throughout Asia, the Philippines and the Dutch East Indies, are in constant communication with each other.

Watch Emissaries
Emissaries of a dozen Asiatic nationalities have visited the Philippines, chiefly since the successful Chinese Nationalist movement. These emissaries are still in the islands. Their movements are watched constantly by the secret service and the Philippine constabulary.

Filipino leaders say that they have no definite personal link, by correspondence or financial support, with the formally organized movement. Well informed persons believe that this is true. Official investigations show that the Filipinos are little interested in the activities of those behind the movement.

Aside from the question of formal membership, however, the unorganized, "spiritual" pan-Asiatic movement has not only taken root but has grown in the past two years to be one of the most powerful forces in Filipino life. Nationalism comes first, according to all tests, but the Indo-Chinese variety of anti-foreignism takes a close second.

The substance of the pan-Asiatic movement is a thing of doubt. It has been periculous re-surrections after months of inaction, and delegates gather from the four corners of Asia and the south sea isles for a discussion of mutual problems and how to face the foreigner with more assurance and more chance of an even fight.

No Cause for Alarm Like many secret societies in the Philippines, now facing unhappy days, the Pan-Asiatic movement may possess the power, noted in many Oriental organizations, of playing dead. But regardless of what happens to the organized movement, it is the unorganized movement, say the best informed opinions, that the powers must eventually reckon with.

The United Press has just completed a survey of opinion among both American and Filipino officials high in the councils of the insular administration and the unanimous belief is that there is no cause for alarm. The Filipinos are essentially peaceful, they say, and their nationalistic aspirations do not spring from any deep harbor of America.

There are secret societies and there are plots. In the Philippines, under a warm sun, where other distractions are few, they sprout on the slightest provocation and luxuriate in the imaginations of local newspaper, civil officials, admirals and citizenry.

Olive Tree Will Be Put In City
Of Peace Treaty

PARIS, Aug. 11.—Locarno, where the "olive branch of peace" was figuratively extended to European nations in 1925 in connection with the Locarno treaties, is shortly to have a real live olive tree to commemorate the event.

M. Rusca, the mayor of the town, is now negotiating for the purchase of an olive tree from Paris, which he will plant in a carload of dirt from the heart of Berlin.

The Berlin soil will be mixed with the soil of Locarno and the tree will be planted in the center of the Locarno public square.

Open Shells 37 Years; Never Has Found Any Pearls

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—For 37 years John Sheridan of this city has been opening from 340 to 360 oysters an hour for eight hours, six days a week. Figuring holidays, days off and the like, John Sheridan calculates that he has opened 25,000,000 oysters. Pearls may come from oysters, but you can't prove it by John. In all of his 37 years of holding the light up to 25,000,000 oysters he has never found a single pearl of any value.

Sport Bracelets
Made Of Leather

PARIS, Aug. 11.—Gold rings, slipped over a round leather thong form some of the newest sport bracelets seen in Paris. Sometimes the gold rings are so closely packed on the leather that they almost cover it. Offener there are sections of gold rings, or gold wire, placed at regular intervals on the leather thong.

SOME MODERN DANIELS

Members of the fourth California district Lions club, meeting at El Monte, near Los Angeles, decided to prove that they deserved the name of lions. So they went out and ate breakfast in a cage with a real live lion, mane and all. They're shown here, with Dr. W. B. Wells, governor of the district, drinking a toast to the lion.

Swedish Ruler Is Aiding Expedition

URGA, Mongolia, Aug. 11.—The "Duke of Mongolia," a Swede named A. F. Larson, who came to this section 30 years ago and worked himself into leadership of most of the Mongolian clans, has thrown his support to the Sven Hedin expedition to central Mongolia.

The expedition held up by the political unrest of China, has been camped at Patouchen, China, on the Yellow River, about 375 miles west of Peking. The aim of the expedition is to make archaeological geological and geographical research.

English Bank Is Triple Guarded

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Not content with the usual precautions against burglars, the Bank of England is making provision even for emergencies when, for some reason or other, the bank's staff might be unable to lock the underground treasure vaults. In the rebuilt "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" the vaults will be so constructed that they can be flooded by the pressure of a button at any one of three different points—one within the bank, one elsewhere in London and one in the country 10 miles outside London.

Czar's Chef Likes
To Cook In U. S.

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark., Aug.
11.—A chef who served his apprenticeship in the kitchen of the Russian royal palace and prepared food for the tables of three czars finds Americans much easier to please.

After catering to the appetites of monarchs, W. C. Thompson, an Esthonian by birth, now is a chef in a resort hotel here. It is no trouble at all, he says, to cook for American millionaires.

Thompson's first experience as a cook for royalty was under Alexander II and then Alexander III and Nicholas II.

9 Months' Labor
Enough For Man

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Aug. 11 —
Three months vacation every year is the prescription for the business man to take if he would live longer and be more successful, says
Dr. George H. Simmons, for 25 years editor of the American Medical Journal.

A man should be satisfied with ordinary successes, take time off to live and not be always scrambling for more gold, he advises. Every man is due a vacation, the editor adds, if he has worked steadily for nine months.

Cats Furnish Fur
For Latest Coat

LENINGRAD, Aug. 11.—A war on cats has started since the State Clothing Syndicate announced 50 cents would be paid for every cat brought to its factory. Their skins are used in making popular priced fur coats for women.

Midnight and daylight raids are reducing Leningrad's feline population. Cat catchers, carrying huge bags and iron bars go about the city coaxing cats into captivity or killing them outright. Disappearance of family pets, as well as the cruelty of their deaths, have caused newspapers to protest.

Stomach Sufferers

Have You Tried Mexican Agumiel, now available here for first time?

For centuries Mexican Agumiel has been the great natural remedy of Mexico. Since the Spanish Conquest scientists have studied it. Scores of books and treatises published on its medicinal use. And for 50 years European and American physicians have sent wealthy patients to Mexico to drink Agumiel. Results are medicinal history.

Now a trip to Mexico is unnecessary. Agumiel, delicious ayrupe concentrate of Mexican sap, has world-wide use. Does not spoil like fresh sap. It is Agumiel with all vital elements intact, absolutely unchanged except for removal of water without cooking. Nothing added. Non-alcoholic.

LINDY'S PLANE TO BE BESIDE FAMOUS SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The tourist who comes to Washington now can see every step in the development of flying, both military and civil, in the aviation section of the Smithsonian Institution, which contains the largest collection of famous airplanes in the world.

To this collection, the institution hopes to add soon the plane flown across the Atlantic by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, "The Spirit of St. Louis." Lindbergh has indicated that he will place the famous monoplane in the museum. Since the trans-oceanic flight this summer, the aviation section has attracted many visitors.

In one of the main buildings are the earlier planes. Hanging down from the ceiling one may see the Langley "aerodrome," as it was called, a curious looking object in these days. Its creator was Samuel Pierpont Langley, one of the pioneers in aviation, and also secretary of the Smithsonian institution for many years.

Incidentally the marker recounting the plane's history accentuated a controversy which still flares up as to whether Langley or the Wright brothers, Wilbur and Orville, should get the credit for the first place in aviation history.

Plane Built in 1903
Upon authorization from the war department, Langley, long a student of aviation, began construction of an airplane. It was completed in 1903, and two attempts were made to fly it, October 7 and December 8, 1903. Both failed on account of "imperfect operation of the catapult launching device," the marker explains.

The wreck of the plane was saved, some alterations were made in rebuilding it, and it was flown successfully by Glenn H. Curtiss, at Hammondsport, N. Y., June 2, 1914, and several times after that. Langley advocates in the controversy claim that the plane would have flown originally, if properly handled, and thus its successful operation would have antedated the famous flight of the Wright brothers at Kitty Hawk, N. C., December 17, 1903. Others claim that the plane as originally constructed never would have flown, that it was faulty in principle, and that the alterations were responsible for its successful flights in 1914.

When the Wrights were asked to place their plane in the museum, they objected to the marker on the Langley plane, and to this language on the marker.

"In the opinion of many competent to judge, this was the first heavier-than-air craft in the history of the world capable of sustained flight under its own power, carrying a man. This aircraft slightly antedates the machine designed and built by Wilbur and Orville Wright, which on December 17, 1903, was the first in the history of the world to accomplish sustained free flight under its own power, carrying a man."

First Ship in 1940
Those who think of Langley and the Wrights as the first to think much of aviation will soon change their opinion on looking further at the exhibit. Hanging near the Langley plane are two small models that really look much more like the airplane of today than does the Langley ship. One was built in 1940, and the other in 1943.

The former is the "aerial steam carriage," built by Samuel Henson in England, along lines suggested by Sir John Cayley, English physicist. It looks as if it might fly. If these two men had been aided more in their pioneer work, man might have flown much sooner than he did, so the marker on this plane suggests.

The other is the Cayley aircraft, designed by the eminent physicist. It partook partly of the helicopter. It was to be raised from the ground by wind-mill devices on each side, which, when the plane was up could be flattened out into wings. The body of this plane looks much like that on modern planes.

Strangely enough, a plane which has been flown, built on the helicopter principle, is among the exhibits in a special aircraft building which houses many of the famous modern planes. This is the plane constructed by Emilie Berliner and his son, Henry, residents of the capital, who have experimented for many years with the helicopter principle.

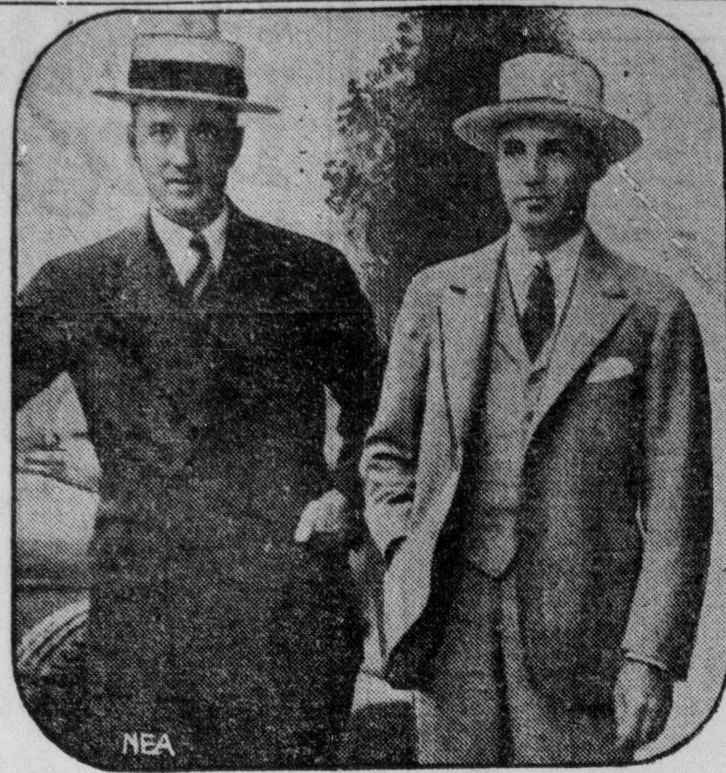

In the main building, among the early planes, are the first plane purchased for military purposes by any government, a Wright machine which the army used in 1909-10, very different from modern fighting aircraft and the first military plane built for use by the United States in the World war, a De Havilland four, bought by the government in 1917, which also carries the first 12-cylinder motor.

To the enthusiast interested in the sporting phase of aviation, the special building housing the famous modern planes perhaps offers the greatest attraction.

Many Famed Ships
There one may see the boat of the NC-4, the first plane to cross the Atlantic; the huge army plane in which McReady and Kelly made the first transcontinental non-stop flight in 1923; the "Chicago," leader of the army round-the-world flight; the tiny war planes in which Captain "Eddie" Rickenbacker, American ace, flew to many air victories; the plane which former Brig. Gen. William Mitchell used during the Chateau-Thierry and St. Mihiel battles and the Argonne offensive, and the plane flown by Capt. St. Clair Street, which led three other planes from New York to Nome, Alaska and back in 1920, a distance of 9000 miles over vast stretches of uncharted territory, in 112 hours actual flying time.

Baseballs cost the big leagues about $150,000 a year.

EDSEL FORD BACKS BYRD

Distilleries Are Object Of Fight

MANILA, Aug. 11.—Many Manila distilleries are operating without permit from the city authorities and without permission from the city fire department, according to the findings of Otis L. Vanderford, chief of the Manila fire department. Detailed report of his investigation has been submitted to the mayor.

The investigation disclosed that 18 distilleries are operating without permits from the city fire department. Most of them are owned by Chinese liquor manufacturers and the rest by well known companies in Manila.

Mayor Romualdez announced vigorous measures will be taken against the manufacturers operating their plants in violation of law.

Prisoner Refuses Offer Of Parole

BALTIMORE, Aug. 11.—Even a prisoner has some liberties and Governor Ritchie and penitentiary Warden Brady will respect the request of William Snowden Negro to remain in prison if he wishes. Snowden, with time off for good behavior, has four more months to serve of a sentence for murder in the second degree. Governor Ritchie recently signed a parole which would have released Snowden at once but the official documents bearing the great seal of Maryland were in the mail on the way back to the state house at Annapolis today. "I think I'll stay," Snowden, who has been behind the walls for 11½ years, remarked when the papers were ready for him. He is a servant trusty in the warden's home.

Beautiful Shawl Latest Fashion

PARIS, Aug. 11.—Shawls are now such an accepted division of the fashion that almost every dressmaking house in Paris shows them as a matter of course, just as lingerie and perfumes form special branches of the style creator's art.

White shawls, deeply fringed, are shown throughout the dressmaking world. One of the most stunning of the white models was seen at the Drecoll ateliers.

Vienna Girls In War With Judges

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—Vienna's women and girls are up in arms against Viennese judges because the latter are supposed to have cast aspersions upon the virtue and honor of the modern woman. Mass demonstrations and protest parades against the ungalant judges are being planned by women and girl organizations.

SCIENTIFIC FLY-TOX

Science Again Contributes To The Joy Of Living

Among the great benefactions that science has bestowed upon mankind is Fly-Tox. Touch any fly, mosquito, roach—any bug or insect—with its cleanly, fragrant spray. They cannot breathe. They are caught, held, doomed to sure death. Fly-Tox is the scientific insecticide developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Fellowship.

And yet Fly-Tox is harmless to humans. A child may use without danger. But Fly-Tox is certain death to all kinds of household bugs and insects.—Adv.

DESERT'S SONS RETAIN SPIRIT FOR ROMANCE

JERUSALEM, Aug. 11.—Modern writers of travel who are eager to show the world that they keep abreast of the times are as one in their assertion that the peoples of the Orient are rapidly awakening and have pretty well caught up with European civilization.

Romance, according to these writers, is a thing of the past. Now and again, however, certain little incidents occur in the neighborhood of the Arabian peninsula which put these assertions to naught and prove that at heart the sons of the desert have retained that spirit of romance and adventure that so endeared them to the world from the sheik tales.

English Girl Weds
A case in point is the following incident, which recently transpired in Damascus:

The Emir Shalan, head of one of the best known and most powerful Bedouin tribes, came to know a young English woman, member of a traveling circus, which, as may be gathered from its presence in Damascus, had covered a great deal of ground. Instantly smitten with love for the young woman, the Emir made her an offer of marriage and promised to make her the queen of the desert. The offer was accepted, and the young woman disappeared from the scene with her lover.

Here, however, the authorities stepped in. For the British Consul at Damascus, in his capacity of a sober-minded and therefore unromantic official, had a strong suspicion that his young fellow countryman had been forcibly carried off by the sheik and his band of followers. So he had her "rescued" and brought back to Damascus. But she came accompanied by the sheik, whom she solemnly declared she had meaningfully married, and married out of love. There was nothing for it, then, but to allow the couple to return to the desert unmolested.

Strange Fascination
Altogether, the circus of which the happy young bride had up to then been a member was fast becoming depleted of its performing staff by marriage, for young Euan, a woman seems to have a strange fascination for the sons of the desert—so much so that at the beginning of the month the British Consul at Beyrut took steps to have a troupe of girls belonging to another traveling show, about whose safety he was concerned, escorted back to Damascus. On the girls' arrival at Damascus under military escort the latter was mobbed by a band of Bedouins, which, led by the disappointed lovers, had lain in wait to free the girls by force and take them away with them.

PRIM WHITE PASSES IN BIARRITZ, GAY ACCESSORIES NECESSARY, SAYS GERMAINE

HERE IS TAILORED EVENING GOWN OF GOLD BROCADE AND YELLOW SATIN, SEEN IN BIARRITZ BY GERMAINE AND, LEFT, SCARF OF DEEP RED AND OLD GOLD WORN WITH IT.

BIARRITZ, France, Aug. 11.

Dear Cousin:
Having just arrived in this lovely spot, and being still enchanted by the beauty of the scenery and the dramatic setting of the place, my mind is somewhat less organized than usual. All the women look so beautiful and the costumes are so marvelous, I cannot get down to cases.

However, one fact has impressed itself upon my consciousness—the spell of pure white is broken, and color reigns everywhere. The white evening gown is no longer content to look merely angelic, but adds brilliance and dash.

It is indeed fortunate for me that I foresaw this and made two wise purchases just before I left Paris—one a large shawl of metal cloth which has dull gold figures on a ground of the most marvelous American beauty red.

Comes to Rescue
Over any of my simple chiffon frocks, most of which are white, pink, or black, it comes to the rescue and gives an illusion of gorgeousness, yet it can be easily dispensed with when extreme artlessness is advisable. It just matches some very snappy red satin slippers I have with very high heels and velvet bows, that always make my feet take an interest in dancing.

My other purchase was one of the new sport type evening frocks, the upper part of gold brocade and the skirt of yellow satin. The reason I was particularly intrigued by it was because the model wearing it had yellow hair and the whole effect was delightful. When I tried on my own, I realized that the blondness was really part of the ensemble. But it isn't so bad with my darker hair—at least for people who did not see it on the blonde.

Simple and Chic
Last evening I saw an evening gown that was a triumph of simplicity and chic. It was this lovely fuchsia shade of transparent velvet, cut with a surplice closing and a skirt with rippling godets. The godets, however, were contrived so that they did not add to the actual width of the skirt and the close narrow line was retained well below the hips.

A stunning note here is the use of wide velvet girdles, some of them tied in lovely bows with many loops and long ends. The velvet of this season is simply beyond words.

In a short time I have seen a number of satin evening frocks, particularly in pastel colors, with as many diamond bracelets as the wearer could flaunt.

Luscious Ibis
Pink satin, they call it this, I believe, is about as luscious a material as has ever been devised, and equally lovely on a light or a dark woman. However, I think satin of any color is very unkind to any save the slender woman. It's way of adding highlights to curves that should be shadowed ought to make it very unpopular with those who won't diet.

I saw a gorgeous embroidered frock last evening. The foundation seemed to be a very dull green crepe, and it was embroidered in faded blue and rose that gave it the feeling of an old tapestry. Some bead fringe in harmonizing colors edged the bolero and the very short skirt.

Mother has a lovely new dinner gown. It is of black satin crepe with the crepe used for the main part of the gown but the glossy surface is inserted in two very full godets in the front of the skirt. The blouse is cut with diagonal inserts of the satin surface. On the shoulder is a really lovely flower of black and white velvet. She is quite regal in it, for mother's figure is marvelous.

Kerchief Marvels
The kerchiefs here, which everyone wears with simple sport frocks, are marvels of color and design. Those of chiffon with col-

PROMINENT YOUNG ATTORNEY WINS CANADIAN GIRL AS BRIDE

Speeding towards the Yosemite valley where the first days of their honeymoon are to be spent, Attorney Franklin G. West and his bride, formerly Miss Elizabeth Docherty, are being followed today by the good wishes of countless friends, many of whom were at the First Baptist church last night to see the charming wedding of the young pair. The ceremony was at 7 o'clock with the twilight glow supplemented by the dimmed lights of the church.

Preceding the hour appointed for the ceremony, was an organ recital by Dale Hamilton Evans. One beautiful melody followed another in prompt succession, all having been chosen for their appropriateness to the occasion. Modulating into the familiar strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, Mr. Evans signalled the approach of the bridal party.

The Rev. Otto S. Russell, pastor of the church, entered from the right of the organ loft, followed by Mr. West and his best man, Forrest Betts, of Los Angeles. As they took their places at the altar, they were met by Miss Docherty's honor maid, Miss Janey Wilde, the flower girl, little Miss Mary Ellen Dudley, and finally by the lovely bride herself.

There was something particularly pleasing in the fact that, in the absence of Miss Docherty's own people (who were unable to come from Canada for the wedding) it was upon the arm of her brother-in-law to be, District Attorney Z. Bertrand West, that she approached the altar with her nuptial vows.

That gracious charm which has won the little Canadian so many friends during her year in Santa Ana, was never more pronounced than when she appeared as a bride. Her gown was of snowy crepe chiffon, with no ornamentation beyond its beauty of material and line. She eschewed the formal veil, wearing instead, a circlet of orange blossoms on her dark hair. Slender satin slippers were in bridal white and a formal bouquet of snowy gardenias and lilies of the valley with a shower of the latter, completed her costume.

Miss Janey Wilde, in choosing her bridesmaid's costume, conformed to the rose tones of the church's decorative scheme. Her frock was of palest rose taffeta embroidered in silver lover's knots. The bouffant skirt swept long in the back and at one side, rising short at the left to correspond with a similar effect at the neck line of the bodice. A great cluster of Cecil Brunner buds deepened the tint of the gown and matched the French flowers at the corsage.

Little Miss Mary Ellen Dudley, daintily in pink organdy, elaborately ruffled, carried a rosebud-entwined basket from which she scattered pink rose petals for the bride to tread upon.

The same lovely color was manifested in the floral decorations. In the immediate foreground of the altar were copper bowls of pale pink gladioli and fluffy white ored borders are particularly lovely. I think. And the jewels are superb. Premet's gold chains and Chanel's crystal effects are the rage.

We are going over to San Sebastian next week, and possibly we may stay a few days. If so, I can probably tell you what the Spanish señoritas are wearing.

Do keep me informed as to all the gossip on your side of the Atlantic, and accept loads of love from your loving cousin,

GERMAINE.

Pretty Wedding Is Held In Amanda Chapel at Carthay Center

Several Santa Anans journeyed to Carthay Center last night where they were guests at the wedding of Miss Marian Forsythe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Forsythe, formerly of Santa Ana, and Howard Stites, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stites of Los Angeles.

The wedding took place at Amanda Chapel, the community church of Carthay Center, with the Rev. Glenn Phillips of Lankershim officiating.

Another item of special interest to Santa Anans was that Mrs. Carl Well Jr., of Lemoore, formerly Miss Persana Delmiling, was matron of honor and Miss Marjorie Kittle who graduated from grammar school and high school in Santa Ana was maid of honor.

The bride was lovely in white satin and lace with a beautiful tulle veil knotted with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white sweet peas.

The bridesmaids were dressed in dainty frocks of chiffon in shades of pink. Each carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Besides Mrs. Well and Miss Kittle, bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Sterrett and Miss Harriet Sterrett of Los Angeles.

Herman Hess was best man and ushers were Arthur Stites, Kenneth Gill and Vaughn Zetter.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Stites which is situated at 740 North Stanley avenue, Beverly Hills. Here, the bride was assisted in receiving by Mrs. J. H. Stites, and her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe.

Mr. and Mrs. Stites left on a honeymoon to be spent in the north where they will visit many points of interest before returning to their home in Beverly Hills.

Mr. Stites is a civil engineer and at present he is connected with the Los Angeles county engineering department.

One of the loveliest features of the wedding was the friendship between the bride and her matron of honor and maid of honor which was begun many years ago when the trio started to school together in kindergarten. Mrs. Stites left Santa Ana while still in grammar school but Mrs. Well and Mrs. Kittle graduated from the Santa Ana high school in the same class. It was following her graduation here that Miss Kittle moved to Beverly Hills where she now lives.

Guests at the wedding from Santa Ana included Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Delmiling, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Strock, E. M. Sundquist and Miss Velma Miller.

Wisconsin Girl Is British Star

LONDON, Aug. 11.—America's latest contribution to the British stage is Miss Karen Peterson, daughter of Dr. E. F. Peterson, a Milwaukee surgeon, who achieved overnight popularity after her first appearance here in "Broadway," drama of New York night club life. She plays the wife of a murdered bootlegger, who hunts down her husband's slayer and "gives him the works." She has been on the stage three years.

Zona Gale sponsored her with the Wisconsin Players after she had appeared in amateur theatricals in the middle west. Then she went to New York and was given the role of "Bonnie" in Zona Gale's play, "Mr. Pitt." She later played the lead in "Not Herbert." Now on top of her London success she is dallying with cinema offers.

Thinks Children Are Born Actors

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 11.—Children can inherit an aptitude for motion picture acting, believes Mrs. Madeline Brandels, who is producing a series of short comedies with casts composed exclusively of children of the stars. Sometimes, she says, the inherited aptitude is hidden under an off-stage behavior that gives no inkling of the child's talent. Barbara Denny, for instance, impressed the producer as hardly promising screen material. When the daughter of Reginald Denny actually was in front of the camera, however, she seemed to know instinctively what to do.

Miss Albright, of Van Nuys, is the guest of her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Edmund M. Mills, Poinsettia street and Edgewood Road. Miss Albright is a sophomore in the University of California at Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Smith and daughter, Vera May, of 1234 South Ross street, returned Tuesday evening from a very enjoyable two weeks motor trip to the north. They visited Mrs. Smith's aunt in Goldendale, Wn., took the Columbia river drive, and came home by the beautiful Crater lake.

Mrs. W. W. Adamson, 1017 North Ross street, and Mrs. Belle Rogers, 1010 North Ross street, arrived home Tuesday from a seven weeks' trip through the eastern states. They visited friends and relatives in New York City, Washington, D. C., Chicago, Albany, Buffalo, Detroit, Mich., Denver and Salt Lake City. They also spent a few days in Ontario, Canada.

Musical and Shower Are Given in Honor of Miss Ruth Snow

Miss Ruth Snow, the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Snow of South Orange street, Orange, was the honoree at a surprise shower and musicale given for her Tuesday night at the beautiful Orange Woman's clubhouse by Miss Elizabeth Skiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Skiles, of North Tustin avenue.

Miss Snow's engagement to Elwood Coate, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Coate of Orange, was announced early in June. Their marriage will take place in September.

Miss Snow had thought that the musicale was the sole purpose of the gathering and so was entirely surprised when later in the evening she was presented with many gifts for her new home.

Miss Martha Huscroft, talented young harpist of Orange, presented the first numbers on the program. These were followed by the songs "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond, and "Russian Lullaby" by Irving Berlin, sung by Miss Carroll Carlson. "Care Selve," Handel, and "The False Prophet," by Scott, were Miss Hazel Smith's pleasing vocal solos. Both were accompanied by Miss Dorothy Kern.

At this time everyone, but Miss Snow, the guest of honor, was fearful that the purpose of the occasion would be revealed if further delayed. A large basket covered to represent a daisy was brought into the room and Miss Snow was asked to open it. The genuine surprise of the honoree left no doubt of the affair proving a complete success. The many lovely articles attested to the popularity of Miss Snow among her numerous friends.

Miss Marie Duncan entertained the group by reading "The Psalm of Marriage" by Phoebe Cary, and "My Beautiful Red Cow," Miss Melva Fletcher sang most charmingly "Lassie O'Mine," Walt, and "Side by Side," Wood. Three ballet selections were interpreted by Miss Sally Coe, the fascinating "Doll Dance" was among them. These were also accompanied by Miss Kern. Miss Thelma Dugan read "A Revised Marriage Ceremony" and "Sufficiency" which caused much amusement for everyone.

Miss Edna Enoch sang "June Brought the Roses" by Openshaw, and "If All the Stars Were Pretty Babies," by Rose and Fisher. Miss Fletcher accompanied her on the piano. Mrs. Skiles, mother of the hostess, played "Madonna Serenade," Bohm, on the piano. Miss Huscroft again delighted all with two more harp solos and "Lohegrin's Wedding March" by request.

The Misses Charlotte, Josephine and Lulu May Skiles assisted their sister, Miss Elizabeth Skiles, in serving light refreshments.

NEW JACKETS

The short Hussar jacket will be popular this fall with collars, cuffs and edges outlined in astrakhan or other fur.

The St. Louis Browns have lost 15 out of 15 starts to the Yankees and won all 10 of their games with the Boston Red Sox.

Guests Leave for North

Mrs. David Metz and her baby daughter, Doris, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Metz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chastain of Orange, and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Metz of 324 West Nineteenth street, left yesterday for their home in San Francisco.

Baby Doris' proud grand-parents took great delight in exhibiting her charms to the many friends of Mrs. Metz who called on her during her stay here. One of the baby's most interesting feats is that at the age of 6½ months she is able to walk alone.

Fashion Hints

PARASOL TRIMMING

Snakeskin has graduated into the realm of parasols. Colored silk ones take bandings of the skin and handle straps, to match purses.

NEW SLEEVES

Raglan sleeves, with the back yoke cut in one with them, give a new line to a new smart fall coat of green tweed.

FALL TRIMMINGS

A stunning black kasha dress with a touch of cream lace at the throat takes the pin-tucked road to chic by having almost an all-over geometric design made by pin tucks.

UNLINED COATS

Unlined velveteen, crepe and georgette coats are the mid-season's most characteristic contribution to style.

SPOOL CUFFS

The spool cuff is very new. It is a tight six inch cuff of self material with ruffs of fur around both edges, giving it a spool shape.

OSTRICH TOUCH

A snug little cinnamon brown felt turban has two bands of matching grosgrain around it and tiny puffs of cinnamon ostrich at each ear.

EVENING COAT

No evening coat is as new as the redingote. One interpreted in green velvet takes gold braid for its tiny standing collar and outlining the flare.

NEW FUR

Zorino is the new nappy, soft fur, looking a bit like beaver, that forms the smart beige and brown cash-colar on a brown cloth coat.

SPORTS INFLUENCE

A Paris frock with a black velvet circular skirt borrows a sports idea and has its bodice fashioned from striped chiffon in ivory, flesh and yellow shades.

OLD-TIME DRESS

Reville, Ltd., London, is showing a new period evening frock of changeable green and silver taffeta that uses 13 yards of material.

PAJAMA TRAIN

Smartly feminine is a black satin and lace pajama suit that has a long lace train falling from its three quarters lace jacket.

NEW TUCKS

Premet uses a new kind of tuck, tiny pin tucks in a fish-bone design, to give novelty to the jumper of a faint rose-red kasha frock.

HARD WATER PLUS MELO MAKES SOFT WATER

LOOK at that dirty, scummy L ring! What does it mean? That the clothes were very dirty? Oh, no. Simply that the water was very hard.

Soap in hard water first combines with the hardness and makes the scum. That scum gets into the fabric. Clings tightly to it in fine particles. Rinse as much as you like, you can't get it all out. The clothes look gray—not snowy white. The scum that isn't in the clothes sticks to the tubs and forms the ring.

But soap in soft water doesn't form scum. You use less and that little washer. To have soft water use Melo. A tablespoonful in the washtub and no "rub-a-dub-dub" and a ring round the tub." Two tablespoonfuls in the bath prevents that same dirty ring and gives you delightfully soft water to bathe in. A teaspoonful in the dishpan dissolves the grease, saves 1/3 to 1/2 the amount of soap and prevents the hands from becoming red and rough.

Keep a can of Melo in the kitchen, in the laundry, in the bathroom. Get it at your grocer's.

NEW ANTARCTIC TRIP RECALLS WILKES' FINDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The projected flight to the antarctic of Commander Richard E. Byrd has served to recall the "Forgotten Expedition" of Captain Charles Wilkes, U. S. N., which led to the discovery of the "antarctic continent" in 1840.

Notwithstanding the fact that it represented the most ambitious attempt at exploration ever undertaken by the United States government, engaging the attention of congress at intervals for nearly 50 years, and involving world-wide surveys and important discoveries from 1838 to 1842, the "South Sea Exploring Expedition" is known in history as the "Forgotten Expedition."

An ironical circumstance is that congress had appropriated a total of $279,131.54 for the publication of the expedition's records before the library committee finally lost interest in 1859. The published records to this day remain incomplete.

Personal charges culminating in court martial and an international controversy with explorers of France and Britain concerning the authenticity of his claim as discoverer of the "antarctic continent" dulled the luster of Captain Wilkes' achievements which have been gradually forgotten, but are likely soon to be revived to popular memory.

Commencing about 1820 the interests of the American whaling industry attracted congressional attention to the desirability of antarctic exploration. After years of intermittent discussion and planning, in which President Andrew Jackson was an enthusiastic participant, congress in 1836 authorized the president to send out a surveying and exploring expedition to the Pacific ocean and the south seas.

Wilkes' First Explorer Lieutenant Charles Wilkes, who had obtained prominence for his special knowledge of navigation and astronomy, was selected as commander. The vessels placed at his command were the sloop-of-war Vincennes and Peacock, the brig Porpoise, the two pilot-boats Seagull and Flying Fish, and the supply-ship Relief. (The Seagull was lost without trace in rounding Cape Horn).

The expedition sailed from Norfolk, Virginia, August 18, 1838, and visited in turn Madeira, Cape Verde Islands, Rio de Janeiro, Callao, the Paumotu group, Tahiti, Samoa, Wallis Island and Sydney. The antarctic phase of the expedition began with the departure of the Vincennes, Porpoise and Peacock from Sydney in December, 1839. The vessels all reported sighting what appeared to be land on January 16, 1840. They pursued a westerly course along the great ice barrier, and the sighting of land was frequently reported but attempts at landing were ineffectual.

On January 24 the Peacock lost a rudder and was barely afloat when finally reaching Sydney February 21. The Porpoise cruised until February 14th and the Vincennes until February 17th, in latitude about 65 degrees South before finally stopped by the ice barriers.

This cruise, with frequent sighting of land, convinced Captain Wilkes that there was a great "antarctic continent" instead of mere scattered islands as was concluded by British and French in about the same period. In his subsequent narrative, he said: "I feel it due to the honor of our flag to make a proper assertion of the priority of the claim of the American expedition and of the greater extent of its discoveries and researches."

"The following narrative must, I feel satisfied, leave no doubt in any prejudiced mind of the correctness of the assertion that we have discovered a vast continent; but I would ask in advance, who was there prior to 1840, either in this country or in Europe, that had the least idea that any large body of land existed to the south of New Holland. And who is there that now doubts the fact, whether he admits it to be a vast continent, or contends that it is only a collection of islands?"

Adelle Land, Kemp Land and Enderby Land have since been found along the route which Wilkes followed, but the French still claim prior discovery of the "Antarctic Continent" by the Dumont-D'Urville expedition.

The controversy has been difficult of solution to all parties, for the reason that the coast of the Antarctic land mass has never been accurately mapped, first because of the infrequency of exploring expeditions, secondly because the great ice barrier undoubtedly comes from the north of the actual land-line, and third because the land, even where existent, is often buried for great areas under the ice mass.

These circumstances, which for nearly a century have delayed the mapping of the antarctic region, plus the natural desire to vindicate the claims of an American to first discovery, will lend strong motives of interest to Byrd's aerial explorations in that part of the world.

After his cruise in the antarctic, Captain Wilkes continued his explorations in Fiji; in Hawaii, where he attempted to measure the intensity of gravity by pendulum experiments on the Atlantic coast by way of Manila, Oregon coast; and finally returned to the Atlantic coast by way of Manila, the Indian ocean and Cape of Good Hope, arriving at New York, June 10, 1842.

Although his expedition has been "forgotten," Captain Wilkes is known to history for his action on November 8, 1861, when as commander of the San Jacinto he stopped the English mail steamer San Jacinto at sea and removed the Confederate commissioners, John Slidell and James M. Mason,

Santa Ana High School Co-ed Seeks Honors At Dahlia Show

One of the girls entered in the queen contest for the annual Orange county Dahlia show at Buena Park will represent Santa Ana.

Pretty Miss Grace Burns, Santa Ana high school co-ed, will compete with seven other entries from cities over the county for the honors of reigning in regal splendor over the year's dahlia flower festival to be held September 2 in the Buena Park grammar school building.

Girls from Fullerton and Anaheim, as well as Santa Ana, are in the contest. It was learned from Mrs. Carl Snyder, chairman of the Dahlia show committee. This is the first year that candidates have been entered from these cities. Interest in the floral show has become county wide.

From the number of exhibits expected, this year's Dahlia show will outrank those of former years. The number of entries will be double that of last year, it is reported by the committee. Fifty dahlia growers of orange county will have displays in this year's event.

A cup is awarded to the grower entering the best exhibit. George L. Trapp, of Harding, holds the cup from last year.

A program of music and entertainment is held during the afternoon and evening of the Dahlia show. Mrs. B. R. Shinn is in charge of the program. The coronation of the Dahlia queen is held in the evening. The girl selling the most tickets for the Dahlia show will be elected for the honors. She will receive a cash prize and, with the two ranking highest, she will be given a trip to Catalina Islands for a week-end.

The girls who are entered at present are Charlotte Bingham of Cypress, Lillian Affachiner of Fullerton, Grace Burns of Santa Ana, Blenda Probst of Anaheim, Helen Page and Fern Peters of Buena Park, and Olive May and Helen May of Yorba Linda.

COMMUNISTS IN CHINA TO BEGIN EFFORTS AGAIN

RIGA, Aug. 11.—The Iski, or executive committee of the communist international, has carefully considered the Chinese situation and come to the conclusion that this year's communist efforts have met with total defeat and that it is necessary "to begin over again."

Today the Iski issued a long statement declaring that the revolutionary part of the Hankow government is now played out. Following the example of Chiang Kai-shek and Feng Yu-hsiang, Hankow has gone over to the enemy and become a counter-revolutionary force. The Chinese political bureau and the central committee of the Chinese communist party have proved unequal to the task entrusted them by the communist international and have lately committed very grave blunders.

Ordered To Leave
The communist international had, it says, sent them confidential instructions, sharply criticizing their conduct and threatening openly to repudiate them unless they improved.

No improvement followed, and, therefore, the Iski has now addressed instructions to all the individual members of the Chinese communist party, directing them, immediately and without even a moment's hesitation, to leave the Hankow government and to cease all forms of co-operation.

They are to remain members of the Kuomintang as long as possible, criticizing the leaders and recruiting adherents to communism, stirring up the peasantry, supplying them with arms and forming secret fighting detachments.

Agitation Doubled
They are to publish a declaration against the Hankow government, demanding that it shall be punished severely for its unrevolutionary attitude and redouble the agitation among the town workers.

The statement reviews the whole recent policy of the communist international in China, drawing the conclusion that the policy was correct in all essential details, but the local Chinese leaders proved incapable and timid and the generals and other military officers (whose ultimate "treachery" was regarded as inevitable) openly seceded at an inconveniently early moment. Nevertheless, it says, the situation has shown signs of increased class hatred and final victory is certain. Above all, it is urged, attention must be concentrated on mobilizing the hundreds of millions of peasants and on accomplishing the agrarian revolution as the next step toward the communist revolution.

COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER GIVES TIMELY ADVICE

Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer, in a public statement today, again called attention to a reported outbreak of infantile paralysis in various sections of the state. According to advices received from the state health department, the disease is on the increase throughout the state, but not in epidemic ratio and should be watched for in every locality.

The county health official explained, however, that there is no cause for alarm whatever, but it is best that the public should know the exact situation regarding things of this nature.

Part of Dr. Presson's statement follows:

"At the present time there is only one case of this disease in Orange county and that is located in the northwest part. The health department is doing everything possible to prevent this disease in Orange county and asks for the co-operation of the people in the county. To prevent the spreading of infantile paralysis it is necessary to keep the following things in mind:

"Keep your children off the streets.

"Do not let them play with any child or adult who is not entirely well.

"Keep sick persons who do not belong in your family out of your house.

"Infantile paralysis is a serious disease. It has a mortality rate of about twenty per cent and many of those who recover are permanently crippled for life. Primarily it is a disease of childhood but many adults also contract it. It is now thought that many persons suffer from this disease but do not reach the paralytic stage. In other words they have all the other symptoms of the disease but are not paralyzed and these people are the ones that unconsciously spread the disease. Persons should be very careful about coming in contact with people suffering from what apparently is a headcold, for this is one of the symptoms of infantile paralysis. We do not mean by this that everyone having a headcold has infantile paralysis.

"Persons becoming sick should be immediately isolated and the family physician called to determine the diagnosis. This will prevent the spread of infantile paralysis, as well as some of the more minor diseases.

This information is given out not with any idea of creating alarm, but for general information of the public, as has always been the policy of the Orange County Health department. Additional in-

CHILD RELIEF SOCIETY WILL MEET FRIDAY

With an increased interest on the part of the general public in the care and treatment of crippled children, a good-sized attendance is expected for the regular monthly board meeting of the Crippled Children's Relief Association of Orange county to be held tomorrow, Friday, noon at the Mission Inn, 500 North Spadra street, Fullerton.

According to Harry D. Riley, the meeting, though scheduled as a session of the directors of the association, is open to any interested citizen. The meeting is held in form of a luncheon, each person paying for his own meal, ranging from 65 to 75 cents per cover. Citizens identified with the association as contributors are especially invited to attend the board meetings, the president explained. Discussion of various matters relating to the administration of the association affairs, including the handling of funds, investigation of applications for treatment, relations with public officials, President Riley declared, will give interested citizens a better understanding of the work carried on by the association.

New Hostelry to Be Open About June First of Next Year, Report

Already world-famous for its scenic grandeur, the territory surrounding the North Rim of the Grand Canyon, served by the Union Pacific system, is to be made even more attractive to tourists by the immediate construction of a magnificent modern hotel and lodge of primitive design at Bright Angel Point, according to George R. Bierman, general passenger agent of the Union Pacific in Los Angeles.

Augmenting the de luxe service in regular operation over their main lines to Cedar City, and by special bus through Cedar Breaks, Bryce canyon, Zion National park, Kaibab National forest and Grand Canyon National park to the North Rim, the Union Pacific will also operate this new hotel and lodge at Bright Angel Point.

Immediate construction is planned, Bierman stated, so that this new development will be ready by June 1, next year. Gilbert Stanley Underwood, of Los Angeles, is the architect who worked out the unique design for the Union Pacific hotel, which, when completed, will appear to have grown right out of the multi-colored cliffs at the edge of the Grand canyon, he says.

The main entrance will be on the Kaibab forest side, through a great natural foyer to spacious porches and into the administration lobby of the lodge. A recreation room, dining room, store, lounge, and many additional nooks and alcoves for community convenience will be arranged to afford guests the utmost in scenic advantage.

OWENSMOUTH—A new survey of the San Fernando valley crops indicates that sugar beet growers, who will soon harvest a large acreage, expect to obtain the largest yield per acre they have ever had, and with good profits. Some of the baby lima fields were a trifle scorched during recent hot weather, but on the whole all plantings are good and the quality and yield above average. Potato men have had a good year. Some of the planters averaged 100 sacks to the acre. The apricot crop has been one of the best in years. Tons upon tons of the fruit is being dried in various groves in this valley and in the Simi valley. The cucumber crop in the Zelzah district has been extra good this year. Hundreds of workers are now in groves of fields gathering and sacking the crop. All planters report white labor as hard to obtain for field work. Most of the harvesters are Mexicans. In some fields scores of Filipino families are at work.

SAN DIEGO—While there have been persistent rumors that the Bank of Italy was to build in the downtown business district, these rumors took definite form last week on the occasion of a visit to San Diego by A. P. Giannini, chairman of the advisory board and founder of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings association. Giannini gave definite approval of a building to house the main banking house for the San Diego district. The location and type of building to be erected was left to a local committee headed by G. A. Davidson, vice chairman of the board of directors, although Giannini favored a building distinctive in type and devoted exclusively to the Bank of Italy, one which would be a credit to the downtown district.

The lots bought today are the same as are now occupied by the large tent in which Brunk's theatrical company is showing.

CHINO—For the first time in the history of the city of Chino, the assessed valuation has reached the million and one-half mark, it is announced by M. R. Birnie, city clerk, who has just completed compilation of the figures. Tax rates this year will be based upon a net assessed valuation of $1,504,440, the figures for which will be placed before the city council at the meeting the last Monday in August. The year's valuation shows $51,235 increase over last year, despite the fact that the city lost $56,000 through the removal of the balance of the A.B.S. company's machinery from the local plant and the moving of the Shell Oil station, valued at $20,000, to Nard.

66 CONVICTED OF VIOLATION OF FIRE LAWS

Vigorous prosecution of fire law violators, resulting in 66 convictions, heavy fines and several jail sentences, together with material expansion of the forest patrol system under Governor Young's new budget, were important factors in reducing California's timber losses to a minimum during the first half of the present fire season. State Forester M. B. Pratt declared today in his mid-season report to Fred G. Stevenet, chief of the newly created State Department of Natural Resources.

Fire losses to date in areas patrolled by state rangers were placed at $216,722.77 in the report to Director Stevenet, with 208,237 acres burned over.

Grazing lands burned totaled 166,187.01 acres; grain 2,052.8 acres; brush, 35,897.70 acres; timber, 1215.54 acres. The estimated losses, as reported by State Forester Pratt, were: Timber, $1727; range, $106,526; grain, $30,661.62; improvements, $77,808.15.

In the campaign against violators of the fire laws, 18 motorists were convicted of throwing cigarettes and burning tobacco from their machines; 21 convictions were obtained for burning without a permit, and 13 campers were fined for failing to extinguish their camp fires. Seven persons were convicted of carelessness with fire, one of incendiarism; two of allowing fires to escape; one man of refusing to fight fire; another of tree stealing, and two farmers were found guilty of failing to equip their harvesters with fire extinguishers.

"Unfavorable weather conditions may greatly increase the fire hazard during the latter part of the season," declared the State Forester, "and we hope that the public will continue to give our state rangers the fine co-operation which has helped to keep losses at low ebb thus far.

"If we can reduce the man-caused fires to a minimum, the state patrol is adequately prepared to protect the state's great timber, grain and grazing areas. Abandoned camp fires and lighted cigarettes thrown along the highways are two of the greatest fire menaces and these can be eliminated entirely by public co-operation."

Town Talk

By C. F. S.

A querulous citizen appeared before the city council Monday evening with a request that a muffer be put on a crowing rooster that resided in and annoyed his neighborhood. Solution of the problem is left to Attorney Swanner.

The tranquility of our city is in danger. Our quietude and repose is threatened and by a "gentleman" who insists on remaining awake when law-abiding citizens wish to sleep. An ordinance to keep a rooster twenty-five feet from a dwelling possesses no virtue. We left an old rooster back in Missouri twenty-five years ago and can hear him as plain as if it were but yesterday, as the high priced authors would say. For real undiluted annoyance that old bird with an arched neck, a red comb and a fog-horn voice, with a disposition to sound the klaxon at his pleasure and to the neighbors' discomfort—well, he can destroy more religion in fifteen minutes than fifty Four Square Gospels can proclaim in an equal number of years.

For a city of thirty thousand people the issue is protentious.

There is very little interference any more with the garden man as he moistens the lawn. It used to keep him busy whirling the hose back and forth so as not to give the pedestrian a bath. The expense of maintaining sidewalks has been transferred to the highway account. In baseball parlance, "Nobody walks."

Frank Witmer, who directs the mechanical end of Bert Campbell's print shop, encountered a bear while on his first visit to Yosemite park, and he was so frightened that he drove four hundred miles before he found out the animal was thoroughly domesticated.

When we called Elmer's attention to a discrepancy in the advertised seating capacity of the amphitheater, wherein on one page of the folder the accommodation was placed at 2000 and on the opposite page 3000, Elmer informed us that the latter figure was merely newspaper estimate, and then had the audacity to ask for some favorable publicity.

Now we know why it's called "The Beach That's Different."

DOUGLAS QUILTS AS MANAGER OF BUILDERS' BODY

Gene Douglas, secretary-manager of the Orange County Builders' exchange, has resigned his offices to become associated with the George Platt auto service.

The resignation becomes effective tomorrow, when Douglas will leave for Santa Barbara to attend a meeting of presidents and secretaries of builders' exchanges. From Santa Barbara he will go to San Francisco and Seattle, returning here by the end of the month. He will assume his new duties September 1.

Miss Meta Harlan, secretary to Sam Heckart, local contractor, will act as temporary secretary of the exchange pending appointment of Douglas' successor.

Directors of the exchange are expected to name a new secretary-manager at their meeting Monday evening. Several applications for the position have been received.

IOWA CITY NAME OF NORINS TRACT

Upon his return from Yuba county, where he has put engineers to work laying out preliminary plans for the erection of a modern city on the huge tract recently acquired by the Orange County Investment corporation, M. Norins announced that the name of the new municipality will be Iowa City.

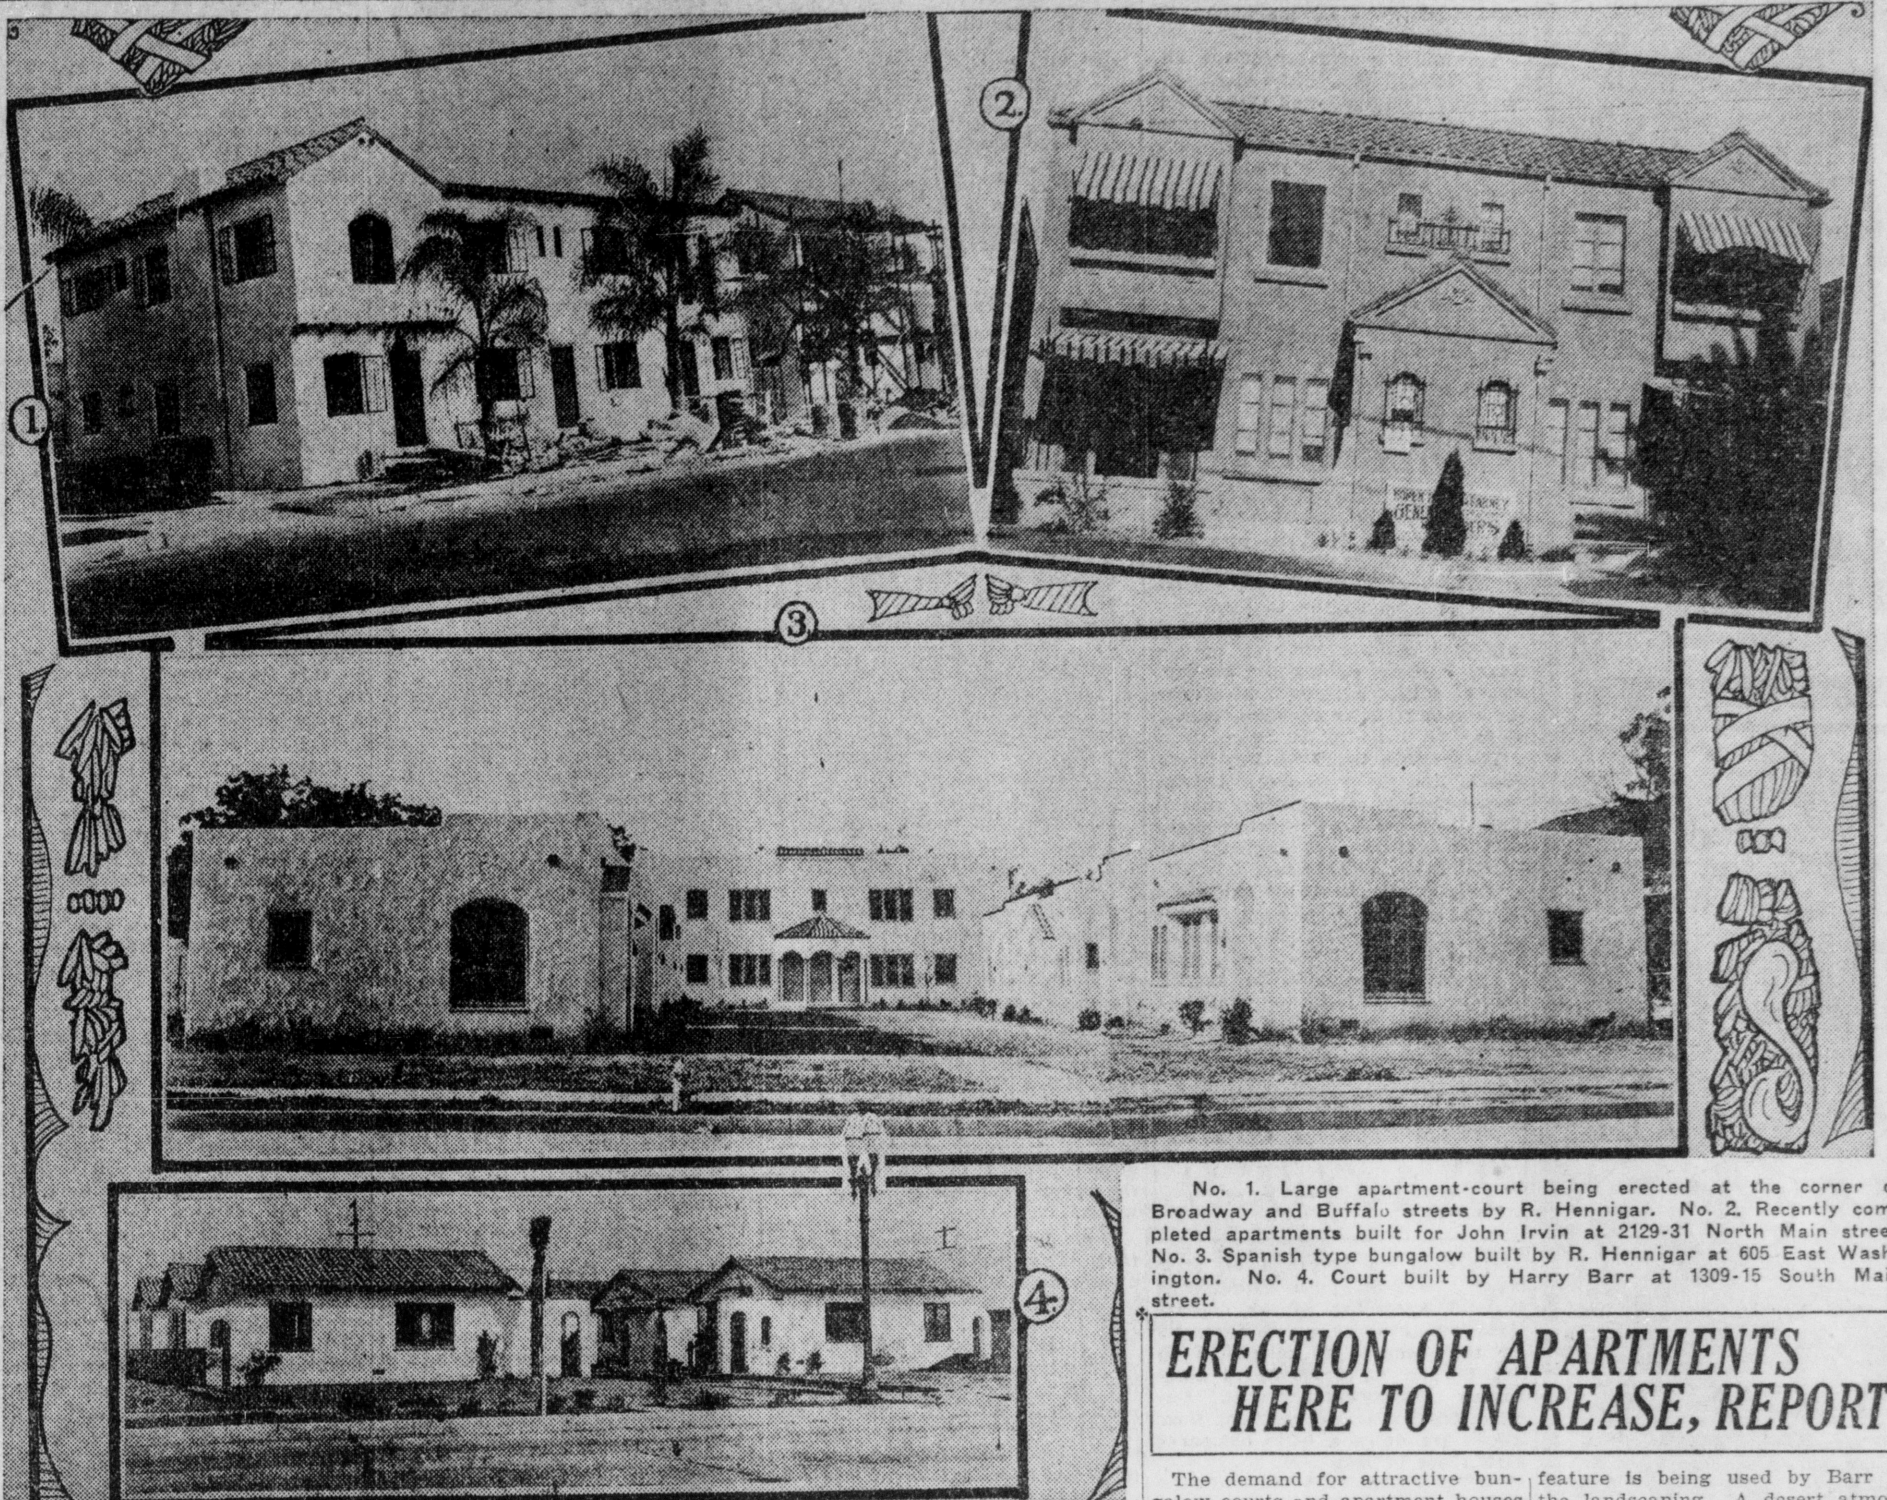

Norins, well known in Orange county as the result of his connection with the Orange County Investment corporation and the Orange County Bond and Mortgage corporation, which organizations have headquarters in Santa Ana and Los Angeles, is president of the Norins Realty Company, Inc., and will have full charge of the development of Iowa City and the sales of property in the town-site and surrounding it. He explained upon his return from the north that 25,000 instead of 20,000 acres are to be developed in Yuba county, the project consisting of 12,000 acres which have already been purchased, and 13,000 acres under option and which will be acquired.

Negotiations for the property involved $1,250,000, according to officials of the Orange County Investment corporation.

PAVING AT BEACH COMPLETED SOON

This week will see the completion of the paving work on the ocean front section of Corona del Mar by the Griffith company. One flight of concrete steps leading down to the beach has been completed and is now in use. Other steps are being constructed at the side of one of the driveways in the westerly section. The paving of the sidewalks on the State highway through Corona del Mar is progressing satisfactorily, the work being done by the Martin Construction company.

Eugene Briggs, of the service station on the highway near Marguerite avenue, has purchased three lots on Fairview avenue in the Ocean front section, and plans to build a home soon.

A petition for a foot bridge across the gulch through which Pacific drive takes its easterly course is now being circulated among property holders. The site of the proposed bridge would be from the southern end of Goldenrod avenue across the gulch. This would provide quicker access to the beach for pedestrians.

3 NEW LAWS IN BOOK FORM, PLAN

Publication of a booklet to contain the new building, electrical and plumbing ordinances is under consideration by the Orange County Builders' exchange. It was announced today by William Tway, president.

Final reading of the three ordinances is scheduled for the next meeting of the city council, first reading being given last Monday night. As the city does not expect to publish the ordinances in full, the exchange is considering the publication of the three new city laws.

It is estimated that a booklet the size of the Orange county telephone directory would be required, with advertisements paying the cost of the printing.

Final action of the matter is expected to be taken by the exchange in the near future.

ERECTION OF APARTMENTS HERE TO INCREASE, REPORT

The demand for attractive bungalow courts and apartment houses is increasing and the next few months will see many such buildings under construction in Santa Ana, building authorities declared today.

Compared to many cities, Santa Ana has few bungalow courts and apartment houses, it is pointed out. During the past few months construction was commenced on some six or seven substantial bungalow courts and apartment houses.

Of the new bungalow courts and apartment structures going up here, the one being erected by R. Hennigar at the corner of Broadway and Buffalo avenue represents the biggest outlay. There will be 13 units.

One of the units of the Broadway and Buffalo outlay is a five-room home that Hennigar has built for himself.

Harry Barr, builder and owner, is completing a court at 1309-15 South Main street. Six bungalows have been erected. A distinctive feature is being used by Barr in the landscaping. A desert atmosphere is to be suggested by putting in brush, cactus and palms in the front. A tiny oasis is to be built in one corner. Barr has arranged to secure several tall desert palms to plant in the front.

A new construction feature has been incorporated in the South Main street court. The inside walls have been given a tinted stucco finish, having the advantage of not chipping and being able to keep clean easily.

Six apartments have been built for Roy Russell at a reported expenditure of $15,000 at 895-897 Bush street.

A building with four flats has been erected at 2129-31 North Main for John Irvin at a cost of $16,000. The building is finished in brown stucco. Honer, Herzog and Farney were the contractors.

R. Hennigar has built an attractive apartment structure at 605 East Washington. The building has apartments for 12 families.

As Borghum drove his drill into the mountain peaks, Mr. Coolidge delivered a brief address, eulogizing the four presidents in whose honor the statue is being made and the "effort and courage" of the people of South Dakota who took the lead in the preparation of the memorial.

"We have come here," President Coolidge said, "to dedicate a cornerstone that was laid by the hand of the Almighty."

"The union of these four presidents carved on the face of the everlasting hills of South Dakota will constitute a distinctly national monument. It will be decidedly American in its conception, in its magnitude, in the meaning and altogether worthy of our country. No one can look upon it understandingly without realizing that it is a picture of a hope fulfilled."

Firemen May Save Pneumonia Victim

RICHMOND, Calif., Aug. 11.—After administering artificial respiration to Henry Britten, 27, for 52 hours, local firemen are continuing their work with the belief that Britten, ill with double pneumonia, would recover.

Since 3:50 a. m. Monday, the firemen have worked ceaselessly in shifts of two in three-hour relays, each of the pair on duty working at the inhalator 15 minutes at a stretch.

The case, according to J. J. Barry, acting fire chief, may rival that of Harold Purviance, local restaurant owner, who was given artificial respiration for 207 hours last May.

3 GROVES IN COUNTY SOLD FOR $210,000 DURING WEEK

$100,000 Cash Received For 18 1/2-Acre Valencia Property Near Anaheim

$60,000 IS PAID RANCHER OF S. A.

San Joaquin Property Is Acquired by Olive Man From Charles Boulrier

Involving approximately $210,000, three citrus groves in Orange county were sold this week.

Paying $100,000 cash, D. J. Shea, a former Arizona cattleman, now living in Redondo Beach, has acquired the 18 1/2 acre valencia grove of H. E. Hunt, located on North street, Anaheim. The buyer is a brother of Timothy Shea, who owns a grove at the corner of Placentia avenue and Santa Ana street, east of Anaheim.

Bringing $60,000, the 13 25-100-acre valencia grove on the San Joaquin ranch belonging to Charles Boulrier, of the Broadway apartments, Santa Ana, has been purchased by Earl Crawford, orange rancher of the Olive district.

The Boulrier property is set to 18-year-old valencias and is considered one of the finest groves in Southern California. The oranges now on the trees were acquired by Crawford in the deal.

Mr. Boulrier picked 1800 boxes from the trees earlier in the season, receiving $4,000 for the fruit. The Santa man bought the grove two years ago for $58,700. The new owner is vice president of the Olive Heights Citrus association and has been engaged in the citrus business for many years.

Mr. Boulrier will leave soon for Nebraska. He will spend the winter in Florida and next spring expects to visit his old home in France.

In the other deal reported, the 10-acre Weber grove near Garden Grove was sold for $50,000 to John Piepenbrink, of Placentia. The grove is set to valencias.

Sense Of Touch Helps Blind Man To Balk Divorce

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Sixty-three-year-old blind man today was victor in a fight against his wife's suit for divorce. A ruling based on testimony of the blind man, John H. Andrews, retired farmer, decreed that his wife, Mrs. Phoebe Andrews, did not desire a divorce and her petition alleging cruelty was denied.

Mr. Andrews, denying any cruelty and supported in his contention by three married daughters, testified that he had found his wife with another man, a roomer, and through his sense of touch identified the man as Wesley Bradford, his wife's chief witness for the divorce. Mr. Andrews opposed the divorce suit because his religious beliefs oppose divorce.

Italians Believed Slain In Rum War

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—The bullet riddled bodies of two young Italians were found yesterday on a road near Meirose park, suburb of Chicago.

Between 15 and 20 bullet wounds were found in each body. There was a generous sprinkling of glass around the bodies, which caused police to believe the men had participated in a gun battle between two carloads of gunmen.

LEGIONNAIRES HOLD MEETING THIS EVENING

Entertainment for the meeting of the Santa Ana post, American Legion, to be held tonight, starting at 8:30 o'clock will be more abundant than at any meeting in the past several months, according to an announcement made today by Ed Kolbe, chairman of the entertainment program.

Through the courtesy of the Laguna Beach Pageant association, Princess Tsianina and Chief Wolache will be present, leading their band of Indian singers and dancers.
This will be one of the best entertainment features presented to the Legion in some time, Kolbe promised.

J. E. Davidson, cello, and Miss Chancer, pianist, of the pageant will give several numbers and Elmer Jahrus will render "The Indian Prayer."

Another feature of the evening's entertainment will be the Bear Cafe entertainers, a dance orchestra led by Harold Sheldon. These entertainers will bring their own dancer, it was said.

The West Coast-Walker theater will present several numbers from the Fanchon and Marco idea now playing at the theater and will be in charge of Jack Stern, master of ceremonies at the theater.

Aside from the outside entertainment, motion pictures of the Santa Barbara parade and convention held last week will be shown the Santa Ana legionnaires, it was said.

The picture taken by Leo Tiede,
Santa Ana photographer, will be shown through his courtesy and is said to clearly show the important part Orange county Legion men played at the convention.

Tonight will be the final night for the election of officers for the post for the year 1927-28. Election will be held in September. It is understood there will be several nominations made although almost 20 names have already been thrown into the ring for the various positions.

WEST COAST-WALKER

"The Brute," a production starring Monte Blue is the big attraction presented by the West Coast-Walker today. Blue is splendidly cast as a slow-in-speech quick-inaction cowboy of the days when the west was really wild and wooly.

But don't get the impression that "The Brute" is just another of the hokum westerns that have flooded the screen lately. It is just the reverse.

It is among the really great interpretations of the old days of the far west. There are the gold-rush, the oil-rush, rodeos and lariats, and bad men, Indians, sands, and sagebrush, fights and faro, loves and ladies, all the razzle dazzle of it, and the humanity, too!

Lella Hyams as the dance hall girl fought for and won, by the Brute, is very lovely. Clyde Cook, known as one of the funniest comedians of the vaudeville stage, is cast as Oklahoma Red, a prospector who strikes pay dirt, and well-cast he is.

Carroll Nye and Paul Nicholson are also members of the large company, which includes all the merry larks of the plains. Ir-piece with keep perception of values. "The Brute" is a real western picture, a vital human

WOULD CALL A HALT TO MEXICAN IMMIGRATION

Editor Register:—A few days ago an editorial appeared in The Register which impressed me as being timely. The only wonder to me is why similar editorials haven't appeared long ago in other papers in the southland.

The article in question dealt with the immigration question with special reference to Mexico.

It is the opinion of the writer that if something isn't done right soon to curb the influx of Mexicans into this country we are going to be confronted with a very serious problem. It is serious right now.

The simple fact that they are allens is not where the menace lies, but it is the character of the element that has drifted into this country. There isn't a foreign people among us that so flagrantly disregard our laws and customs, as they. If you think I have exaggerated this point just watch our police reports and court calendars in our daily papers. I venture the assertion that during the period of one year that more than one-half of those who violate our laws are Mexicans. Just suppose the Mexican population of Santa Ana outnumbered the American population as we now outnumber them what would the inevitable condition be?

I am not condemning all Mexicans. There are some highly respectable, law-abiding, tax-paying Mexicans among us, but the percentage is very small.

But what brings them here and what keeps them here? The latter question is easily answered, absurd as it may seem, by the preference shown to Mexican labor to that of American labor. Who is guilty of such? Well, ask our contractors. Is it fair to turn down men who are 100 per cent American, who have their homes here, pay taxes, give to every worthy cause, support our churches and respect our laws, to foreigners who do neither?

I am just American enough to be for America first, last and all the time, and I would favor and if within my power, would demand, that if people coming to our beloved land from any part of the globe can not obey our laws and conform to our customs that they be sent out—and out to stay.

Why there are not more cervical dislocations is beyond our limited reasoning. In the examination for a driver's license there should be some information required as to the applicant's elastic distance and recovery.

Otto Hahn is home from his vacation trip and he said he was going to work so he could get a rest.
Things are like that. Everything seems to be in reverse.

Vacations are that way. They look fine and appealing on a nicely illustrated folder but the pictures fail to locate the hidden flea, the poison ivy, the flat tire or the detour. Otherwise, in hoc signo vinces.

Don't tell us that the brotherhood of man idea isn't working.
Yesterday a representative for a cigar firm was in Santa Ana passing out cigars.

Good news travels fast and bad news much faster. It was astonishing to the cigar representative to encounter so many people who never smoke that took a cigar. He met such a reception line in almost every place he visited that it had the atmosphere of a frame-up. The "advance information" killed the goose.

The biggest industry in Santa Ana is her public schools. There isn't any wit or pedantic display to this item, but to reiterate this important and significant fact is always worth while.

Once upon a time (this is not a bedtime story) our city guidance caused to be painted at the intersection of Tenth and Main street two yellow streamers (now almost indistinguishable) running east and west, which created what is called —but not respected—a safety zone.
This was for the use and protection of the school children of the McKinley and the Junior High passing to and fro. On either side of the zone in large letters appeared the word "SLOW," which all drivers noticed if the traffic officer happened to be around.

Once upon a time (again this is not a bedtime story) regard for the safety of the school children, like some vaccinations, took. But now the caution to drive slow seems difficult of interpretation.
If you are following a driver who is going thirty and you twenty then you justify yourself that you are driving slower than the fellow ahead of you and the order is being technically obeyed. When the law is being disregarded we are always looking for a "goat" at the same time.

All this time pupils are crossing the street within the safety zone when they get a slight chance to do so. Sometimes you get a thrill from these kiddies. At times you are uncertain whether they are going to stop or whether you are.
Other times one of them will put forward a foot and appear to be waiting until you get close and then try and dash ahead of your car just like some drivers try to beat a railroad train at a crossing.
Other times they will stand in the most determined manner with a "hit me if you dare" attitude, and occasionally you will encounter a youngster who, with a mischievous grin on his face, looks up at you and gives you a high sign that dangerously resembles the salute to the flag.

It's all in the day's experience, but's funny how few people can read the most simple words.

If we have a new fish market called the Liar's Retreat, Anglers' Rest, The Piscatorium, or Just

Early Wednesday morning The Albion set out to attack the Barracuda school, Bill having been hooked with a story brought in from some other unreliable angler that several hundred pounds had been landed in less than two hours' fishing. Bill's party came home late at night looking for the fellow who gave the location of the inexhaustible Barracuda.

That fellow at First and Main yes, that's it—is such a stickler for equilibrium that he parts his hair in the center. And he has two of the most beautiful blue eyes, one at equal distance on either side of his nose.

As a pulchritudinal display he has aroused our envy to a point where we are tempted to put polson in his vanity case.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

REPORT CITES IMPROVEMENT IN U. S. CROPS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The condition of the corn crop on August 1 was 71.2 per cent of normal, indicating a production of 2,358,226,000 bushels compared with a harvest of 2,647,000,000 bushels last year, the agriculture department has announced.

A marked improvement in crop prospects has occurred during the month of July, chiefly as a result of more evenly distributed rainfall, the report said. At present there is no drought or excessive rains; temperatures have been moderate in most states and during recent weeks crops have made good progress.

Corn, oats and most fruits are now the only important crops expected to show yields considerably below the 10-year average and the yield per acre of all crops combined is expected to be only one per cent below that average.

Crop prospects as a whole are now excellent in North Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, Idaho and Oregon. They are fairly good in most other sections except Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas, which suffered wet weather earlier in the season, and in Florida and New Mexico, which have suffered from drought.

Indicated production of all wheat on August 1 was $6.4 per cent of normal, indicating a production of 298,378,000 bushels, compared with 205,000,000 bushels last year.

Stocks of oats on farms was estimated at 61,31,000 bushels or 49 per cent of last year's crop.

SMART AND FINAL COMPANY TO REMODEL FIRST STREET FIRE HALL INTO OFFICES

That the fire hall on East First street will undergo a radical change in the near future and will emerge as a complete office building for the Smart and Final Investment company, was revealed today by W. S. Suddaby, president of the company, which recently purchased the property from the city for $10,500.

By moving its offices from the warehouse on East First street, where they are located at present, the company will make available additional storing space and at the same time will be able to place its office force in more convenient quarters, Suddaby explained.

The building, when remodeled, will accommodate 25 Smart and Final Investment company office employees under more comfortable conditions, with better lighting facilities. The large doors at the front of the building will give way to smaller ones, more in keeping with an office building. Changing of the partitions, effecting a rearrangement of the rooms, will be necessary in remodeling the building Suddaby stated.

To Select Site
The company has not yet taken possession of the property and will not be able to do so until the city selects a new fire hall site and erects a building there, Suddaby explained. But it is expected that the remodeling of the hall will start within 60 days.

If anyone wonders why the city needs a new location for the fire hall in the east part of the town, John Luxembourg, fire chief, has plenty of reasons to produce.

The location of a fire hall is an important factor for the district it is designed to serve, Luxembourg explained. The station in question takes care of the fire situation for the wholesale and manufacturing district of the city, and the residence section east of Garfield street. But the present building is not centrally located.

In order to place the fire apparatus closer to all locations where fires might occur, a new site is being selected at present by the city council, which has several under consideration. City Manager E. B. Collier has opted for two locations, one at Third street and Grand avenue, and another on Eastwood street near Fourth.

Close To Tracks
Another difficulty in connection with the First street location is the fact that it is close to the railroad tracks which cross that thoroughfare. When the gates go down as a train passes, traffic piles up in front of the entrance to the fire hall and it is almost impossible for the truck to leave the building. If a fire should occur at such a time, Luxembourg pointed out, the loss of time in getting away from the hall might result in serious damage to a burning building.

In the final choice of a new site, the fire chief hopes that a location will be found where the railroad tracks cannot interfere with the departure of the trucks.

The East First street building is on a piece of low ground and rainy weather often results in water standing on the floor of the hall. Considerable expense to the city has been caused by this condition. The wooden floor of the building has been replaced with concrete. But this does not keep the water out. Sand bags have been piled around the outside of the hall to prevent the seepage of water but this provision is not entirely successful, he explained. At times the water has been so high that the trucks were forced to leave the building by the back door to answer alarms, he pointed out.

The internal condition of Austria is equally a matter which closely concerns her neighbors, and dispatches from Italy during the recent disorders in Vienna amply underlined the anxious interest with which the Italian government is watching the alarming developments.

But it is on Vienna rather than Bucharest that the anxious eyes of Western Europe are fixed.

Combustible materials kindled when a public meeting convened by Socialist leaders to protest acquittal of three fascists who had pleaded guilty of murder were fired on by the police plentifully. There is hostility of the strong Socialist party toward the Conservative Seipel government. There are the embers of excitement aroused during the recent general election. There is trade depression, largely due to the tariff walls built around Austria. There is enmity between the Socialist defense guard and the fascist "front fighters."

All these elements of instability are aggravated by the question of whether the diminutive state is capable of survival as a separate political and economic unit.

France Has New Dancing System
PARIS, Aug. 11.—"Danceographic" is a new science, the language of the feet.

Albert Peter, a Parisian dancing master, its inventor, offers it as the Esperanto of rhythmic feet. It is a series of signs, similar in the idea to the system of musical notes, indicating accurately the various steps of a dance.

This definite description of a dance, says Peter, will enable dancing masters to patent their inventions and will enable ballroom experts of all nations to read the score of a dance, exactly as a musician would read the score of music.

CHILD WELFARE IS BIG OBJECT OF KIWANIS

Child welfare—reflected in well defined and organized activities of two committees, one dealing with vocational guidance and the other concerned with the underprivileged child, was voted the foremost objective of the Santa Ana Kiwanis Club at its regular luncheon meeting held yesterday at St. Ann's Inn. The award was made in connection with a oratorical contest in course of which the chairmen of the various regular committees made a brief report of the work of their respective committees, each seeking to emphasize the importance of his particular field of activity. Three Kiwanians, members of out-of-town clubs, acted as judges.

O. N. Robertson, president of the club, recently returned from a vacation trip spent in the northern part of the state, presided over the meeting. Dr. H. G. Huffman, chairman of the educational committee, were in charge of the program which included several vocal numbers by Mrs. Arthur May, well known soprano. The singer was accompanied by Miss Georgia Bell Walton, violinist, and Miss Dorothy Hurd, pianist.

J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools, chairman of the committee on vocational guidance, gave an interesting talk on the work of his committee, the scope of which extends to practically every boy and girl in the high school age. Pointing to the fact that the young people of any community constitute its greatest asset, Cranston said no work is more important than that which calls for friendly association with young minds.

Sharing honors with Cranston in presenting the claims of their respective committees, was A. N. Zerman, chairman of the committee on the underprivileged child. Zerman laid emphasis on the fact that this phase of Kiwanis activity is held to be one of the main objectives of the international organization. The Santa Ana club, he said, is furnishing free milk to the Mexican schools and maintaining a scholarship for a pupil of poor parents. In addition to these activities, the club is assisting several families and giving aid to a certain boy scout troop.

Bob Fernandez reported on the program committee. The work of the committee on business standards was explained by Albert Hill. Colonel M. B. Wellington gave a brief outline on the work of the laws and regulations committee and W. L. Duggan reported for the inter-club relations committee. The last report was made by George Dunton who told the Kiwanians of the work carried on by the committee on good will and grievances.

Recent guests at the F. Eastwood home were Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Cards and two daughters, of Lomita. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jones of Gardena, were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Eastwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Walters, of Taft, are spending their vacation at their property on Rodeau street.

Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lawrence and children were callers at the W. E. Kirk home in Santa Ana. They also visited Mr. Lawrence's sister, Mrs. Joe Neubaumer, of Riverside, who was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk.

A large house was recently moved near the school house on the property owned by J. Gallagher, of Long Beach.

COLONIAL HOME OF CHARM

Here is a homey and comfortable house of the Dutch Colonial style, adapted to modern conditions in novel and attractive fashion.

Features of it are the charming octagonal bay, the recessed entrance and the pleasing roof lines. Notice how the house nestles close to the ground, an element that adds greatly to its effectiveness.

The plans call for lower ground lines on the two sides not shown in the illustration, so there is no reason for not preserving the appearance of snugness.

This house will look well with either the front or bay elevation to the street. If the garage is included the lot should be at least 65 feet wide for the front elevation to face the street.

Adjacent to the vestibule on the first floor are a coat closet and lavatory. From the hall a good view is had of the living room and sun parlor but not of the dining room.

The kitchen is well lighted by a triple window over the sink and has cabinets at one side and over the ice box. Note how the breakfast nook is placed close to the rear door and the front hall.

There is also, something that will be appreciated, a direct connection between the front hall and the semi-attached garage.

On the second floor are three bedrooms, with the front ones inter-connected. The attic, too, is readily accessible.

The ceiling heights are 8 feet 6 inches. The content of the house is 27,000 cubic feet; of the garage 2700 cubic feet.

ADVENTISTS TO OPEN CONCLAVE THIS EVENING

Following the opening address at 7:30 tonight, by Elder J. E. Fulton, veteran missionary of the Solomon Islands and New Hebrides, the annual convention of the Seventh-day Adventists, encamped at the Orange county fair grounds, will swing into a full day's session tomorrow.

Community singing, orchestra and choir music, will be featured in tonight's program under the leadership of William Jensen, singing evangelist, of San Diego, and Elder R. S. Fries, of Boston.

A full day's session will be held Friday. The devotional hour at 6 a. m. tomorrow will be conducted by Elder P. E. Brodersen, president of the local district. The 9 o'clock hour will feature the Home Missionary department with Elder David Voth, of Glendale, leading in the service.

The 10:45 a. m. sermon by Elder W. A. Spicer, president of the World Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, will present the progress of missions and denominational endeavor. President Spicer, of Washington, D. C., while in constant communication with the world, has also visited every continent in the interest of missionary endeavor. The discussion will be a timely one on the value and results of missions.

A missionary's experiences among the savages of the South Sea Islands will be personally related by Elder H. M. Blunden in his sermon at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, while the 5 o'clock hour will feature a health lecture. Elder W. A. Spicer is scheduled to speak at 8 o'clock Friday evening. Special music and community singing will be features of the services.

Evangelist and Mrs. R. S. Fries, of Boston, Mass., were among the early arrivals at the encampment. Elder Fries is an evangelist of note in the east and has been transferred to the southeastern California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, where he will work in the Loma Linda district.

Other delegates who have arrived are William Jensen, singing evangelist, of San Diego, Prof. L. A. Wilcox, Bible teacher of the Southeastern Junior College, Arlington, Misses Lovaine Gauterau and Reathel Jenkins, Bible workers of San Diego, Elder A. M. Dart and family, of Riverside, Miss Kathryn Reid, of Riverside, Miss Rose E. Boose, Bible worker, San Diego, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sparks, San Diego, Dr. Sidney Smith and family, of San Diego.

Cost Of Socials Cut By Japanese

TOKIO, Aug. 11.—The cost of attending court functions and maintaining rank is so great in Japan that many peers are never seen in public because of their inability to stand the expense.

The emperor, however, has suggested that court institutions and customs be simplified and the household department will draw up new regulations concerning court uniforms.

The uniforms have cost from 500 to 1000 yen each, and new ones had to be purchased every time the owner's rank was raised. The new rules will make the cost less and the uniforms so constructed that they can be modified at a small expense whenever the wearers rank is changed.

DONATIONS TO HEALTH CAMP BEING SOUGHT

A call for donations to the funds of the Orange County Children's Health camp was issued today with the hope that sufficient money would become available to keep the camp, located in the Santiago canyon, open throughout the remainder of this year.

The organization in charge of the camp is in immediate need of $2000, and even that, according to a statement made today by one of the directors of the organization, will not carry the camp through.

Hitherto, the camp has been operated only as a summer camp, children whose bodies needed to be built up by fresh air, regularity of sleep and exercise and by good food being allowed to enroll in the camp. Plans were made during the past year to keep the camp open this year until mid-winter, by which time it was believed sufficient funds would be raised by the Christmas seal sale to assure keeping the camp open all next year. The probability is that the camp will be closed September 1 or September 15. Those who are willing to contribute to a fund to keep the camp open as long as possible can leave their donations with the organization's treasurer, A. J. Crookshank, at the First National bank.

When Ross McPhee, of Santa Ana, came before Judge Chris P. Pann, Huntington Beach, August 16, to answer to a charge of reckless driving, he may be given a straight jail sentence, if Judge Pann carries out his general program of bearing down on traffic violation cases, started when the 40-mile speed limit went into effect.

SPEEDER IS GIVEN 250 DAYS IN JAIL

R. B. Haney, of this city, was convicted for the third time in Judge Pann's court yesterday and sentenced to 250 days in the county jail on a charge of reckless driving. Haney has an unserved sentence of 110 days hanging over his head from the last conviction, according to police officials.

Hospital Again Actor's Address

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 11.—Joseph Miller, Bohemian actor, will have a hospital as an address again. Miller was released from the Glendale hospital yesterday, having spent four years in that institution suffering from a chronic ailment. He had made the hospital his permanent address, but today he was to have found a new home.

GLASS FACTORY INSPECTED BY TARIFF HEADS

Regarded in business circles as a preliminary step toward obtaining adequate tariff protection against foreign competition in the window glass market was the investigation conducted here yesterday at the Standard American Glass company plant by members of the United States Tariff commission.

J. Mark Albertson, a trained tariff investigator, specializing in glass manufacture, headed the federal party. Other members were A. L. Morgan and Robert E. Meeds. The investigators spent considerable time at the local glass plant where they obtained data regarding cost of production, style and capacity of factory equipment, transportation facilities and freight charges, operation methods, and all other phases having a direct bearing on the production cost.

The presence here came as a result of representations by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, supplemented by those of United States Senator Samuel Shorridge.

The investigators have been engaged in a nation-wide survey of the window glass manufacturing industry in the course of which they inspected plants in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Illinois and other states. They are now finishing up on the Pacific coast. On their return to Washington, D. C., they will go to Belgium for the purpose of securing similar trade data.

Electric Motors are like livestock

LITERALLY so! Certain feeds develop muscle. Change the proportions and bone is developed. Change them again and build fat. It's all a matter of deciding what you wish to accomplish and then balancing rations to that end.

Building a motor is like feeding livestock in that certain electrical and mechanical qualities must be balanced. There is one right combination for every job. Finding it is a matter of the skill, equipment, resources, and experience of the motor manufacturer.

Westinghouse has all these—especially experience. When an irrigation pump is driven by a Westinghouse Hollow Shaft Motor, the pump is always ready. And Westinghouse is always ready to provide your pump with a Hollow Shaft Motor.

Put one responsibility back of the entire motor application by using Westinghouse control apparatus, as well as Westinghouse motors.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: Charles Hall

By Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26

The greswome details of Dr. Kane's expedition only served to send more men seeking the north's bitterly guarded secret. In 1866 Dr. Hayes sailed to the Arctic by way of Baffin Bay and reached the farthest north up to that time. Hayes had been Kane's assistant and might have gone farther but for the death of Sontag, his scientist, who was frozen on a sledging trip.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26

One of the strangest of the successors of Kane was Charles Hall, a native of Rochester, N. Y., who had been blacksmith and journalist in turn.

He set out in 1860 in search of Franklin. For five years he lived among the Eskimos and found some of the bones of the hapless party.

In 1871 Hall made another voyage, in command of the American government steamer Polar. He reached a point 250 miles up Smith Channel, a new record. Hall died as a result of privation and hardship at Thank God Harbor, Greenland. The Polar never reached home. Part of the crew was picked up in an open boat off Cape York after a great voyage through icy seas.

World Flyers Will Use Radio Beacons

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—E. F. Schlee and W. S. Brock, of Detroit, will fly eastward from Harbor Grace, N. F., seeking to set a new speed record around the world, as soon as radio beacon equipment is installed in their plane, they announced here today.

Army officers granted them use of the San Francisco and Hawaii radio beacons for crossing the Pacific.

Brock disclosed they would go by way of Germany and India, because the state department advised them they would have no protection as Americans if they took the direct route across Soviet Russia. They will fly from Tokyo to Hawaii in two hops, stopping at the Midway Islands.

CLEVER ROBBERY RUSE IS REVEALED

BURBANK, Calif., Aug. 11.—A clever ruse by which jewelry valued at $18,000, the property of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Fringle, of New York City, was stolen from the home of J. R. Field, has been revealed here by investigators of the sheriff's office.

The burglary has been under secret investigation since Friday afternoon, when the Fields and Fringles left the house to attend a wedding in Pasadena. During their absence, neighbors told police, a man drove up to the house and proceeded to sprinkle the lawn.

The stranger was accompanied by a woman who was admitted to the house by a third member of the burglar gang, who had gained entrance by forcing a bedroom window.

While the man outside sprinkled the lawn and stood guard, the couple inside thoroughly and carefully ransacked the house, taking jewelry owned by the Fringles and several pieces of silver valued by Fields as heirlooms.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"That funny crown on Clowny's head looks queer," so little Scouty said. "But even so, I think that he makes quite a dandy king. Imagine sitting on a throne the Goofys say is all your own. If he gets tired of ruling, I would like to have a fling."

"Ha ha," laughed Coppy. "Never fear that Clowny'll tire of ruling here. He's just the kind that gets real fun in doing things like that. Just watch him now, 'cause here he's through he'll tell us all just what to do. I know he'd rather wear a crown than any sort of hat."

Woe Clowny's face spread in a grin. He eyed the throne that he sat in, and then he shouted, very loud, "I'd like a fit of food." Said Coppy, "That's no way to do. They'll take this job away from you, if you keep shouting out like that. It sounded very rude."

But all the Goofy Goos bowed low and one of them exclaimed, "I'll go and fetch a dandy dinner that will satisfy your crave."

"That's fine," said Clowny, "bring a treat and plenty for us all to eat. Give him a lift there, Coppy. Just remember you're a slave."

Off went the little Goofy Goos, and Coppy trailed behind him, too. The others gathered 'round the throne and sat by Clowny's feet. The two came back in just a while, and what they brought made Clowny smile. They carried several dandy trays of wondrous things to eat.

As several trays were served to him, with things fixed nice and quite in trim, wee Clowny smacked his lips and 'course, his appetite increased. He ate of dishes very new, and all the others joined him, too. For 'bout an hour the fun went on. It was a gorgeous feast.

"Oh, Thank You!"

Lena, Mrs. Stillman has boasted, doesn't know the difference between $100 and $1,000,000, which makes one feel sort of sorry for Bud when he gave her that million dollar wedding present. She probably showed no more enthusiasm than if handed a nickel.

One would think, too, that a new husband would get little fun out of giving his lady love a platinum and diamond bracelet when she'd appreciate a $2.95 one just as much. A sense of values does count, Mama Fifi to the contrary notwithstanding. Mama Fifi, however, told me herself, when I interviewed her about her daughter-in-law, that Lena will get her ideas of value soon enough. "Did you ever know any woman, whatever she knows or doesn't know, to refuse mink for beaver?" she asked me.

$24,000 Not Enough

If a wealthy husband accustoms his wife to luxuries, it is his duty to continue those same luxuries in the way of alimony, if he divorces her. This was the very outspoken contention of a mid-west attorney for the wife of a wealthy man in a recent divorce suit. The girl earned $18 a week as a theater ticket office girl when he married her less than 10 years ago. Now she contends that she can-

Beauty and Health

By Edna Kent Forbes

THAT EXTRA SLICE

When you're reducing, it's a terrible nuisance to feel you must count practically every mouthful you eat. If you keep track of your calories, and choose the foods which haven't much caloric value, you won't have to watch yourself too much. But here are a few things to be careful about, things which won't bother you once you've started making a habit of doing them.

That extra slice of bread, for instance, is something to watch out for. How many times have I seen a far too chubby friend of mine, finish the last of her meal, then, while we sit talking, take and butter an extra slice of bread? Usually that sort eat too much bread anyway, a thick slice with a plate of soup, one or two with the meat course, another with the salad—unless they eat little square crackers with butter, which amounts to the same thing, or very nearly so. That sort, too, likes bread and butter with a dish of berries, and just bread and butter by itself in-between courses.

Now then, a fairly small slice of bread without any butter is 100 calories. Those big homemade loaf slices of bread, cut rather thick, are half as much again. The average amount of butter that goes on your butter dish, which covers one slice of bread thickly, but can do two slices if you spread it thin, is 125 calories. You are trying to cut out a thousand calories of food a day, in order to reduce—one thickly spread slice of buttered bread may be just under 200 calories—five to a meal is nearly 1000! You are adding to your diet—not taking away from it.

Don't do it! Eat the least amount of bread with each meal that you can, and no butter. Butterless bread isn't very good, without butter you won't want so much bread perhaps. Cut it out of your diet.

Eva G. J.—You will be getting plenty of starch even though you omit potatoes and everything made from white flour. Whole-wheat or graham flour has some starch in it, and so do peas, or beans. If your doctor feels that all starch should be taken out of your diet he would have suggested bread made from gluten flour, and you would have been much more restricted in your choice of vegetables. As your health has improved under this restricted diet it is possible that you will not have to be so limited after a short time; however do not force foods on your system until you can assimilate them again.

Specialist Tells How To Use Rouge

BY MME. ANNE GERARDE For NEA Service

The best rouge is the salve variety. Dry rouge is harder to put on, never looks so natural, and comes off too easily. The ideal rouge is the same red as a drop of your blood.

Before applying rouge, put on the lightest possible coating of foundation cream. As make-up should be a work of art, apply delicately and always use too little rather than too much.

Try to match the natural flush of the face.

If your face is small and thin, rub a little rouge all over your cheeks and you will get an impression of a healthy, round contour.

If you have a big face or an exceptionally round one, put your rouge only on your cheek bones. Rub it lightly until the edges of the rouge spot blend into the color of the cheek. The best make-up gives the impression of a flush, not a definite rouged spot.

A FLIRT MAKES A MISTAKE

She never guessed I'm forty-six, A husband and a father; I think that lovely bag of tricks Had flirted elsewhere rather.

And when she winked her eye at me And dropped her kerchief slyly, She never dreamed that I could be Indifferent to her highly.

No doubt she thought me young and free And fit for many a caper,

She may have marvel'd I could be So wrapt up in my paper.

She coughed and then she heaved a sigh, Then turned and left me sadly, Nor little guessed the truth, that I Was also feeling badly.

Yes, let the dreadful facts be told, And mark that I am truthful; It's horrible to be so old And still to look so youthful.

STARS SPOT ANAHEIM TO THREE RUNS, THEN EARN LOPSIDED VICTORY, 14-6

Smarting under their most severe lashing on record and buried under as big a score as "Big Bill" Cole, Anaheim at last was willing to say "Uncle" today and admit that Santa Ana was master of the night baseball situation in Orange county. At the same time the jubilant Santa Ana All-Stars, 14 to 6 winners after spotting the enemy crew to a three-run lead in the very first inning at Lincoln park last night, marshaled forces for their first game in the Southern California championship series, with Arlington here next Wednesday.

It was Santa Ana's night. The rout of the Colonists was convincing and complete.

The visitors elected to start on the knoll a slim little Spaniard, "Zuse" Ochso, who has been burning up the Anaheim City league, but "Zuse" was on his way to the showers before he retired a man in the local's half of the first frame. Kenny Walker, the string-bean collegian, was the next victim and he staggered through the rest of the way but was hounded from pillar to post and the only reason the last member of the Colonist pitching staff was not in use was because mite Jimmy Mansfield worked a full game against Fullerton the night before. At that, the southpaw worked about a full game in the "bull-pen."

Hitt Pitches Courageously
Gene Hitt, Santa Ana's mound nominee, also found a reception committee awaiting his approach to the rubber. Touched for three runs in the opening canto, the tall First National bank gunner settled down courageously to his chores and, though batted hard at intervals, made ample use of the long lead which his mates built up for him in the first, second, third and fourth spasms.

Santa Ana's victory brought to a close the torrid pennant race in the Orange County Night Baseball league. Manager John Wilcox's men are "in" now and will represent the district in the elimination playoff for the Southern California crown now held by Long Beach.

Defeated on consecutive evenings by Fullerton and Santa Ana, Anaheim finished the season in a close the torrid pennant race in the Orange County Night Baseball league. Manager John Wilcox's men are "in" now and will represent the district in the elimination playoff for the Southern California crown now held by Long Beach.

Trailing by three scores at the first half of the initial chapter, Santa Ana fans were grave until their belligerent ball club went wild in its part of the same era, driving in six runs before a couple of questionable decisions on the bases snuffed out the rally.

Little "Memphy" Hill, the dare-devil kid, touched off the blaze by beating out a slow infield roller. Foote laid down a sacrifice and was safe when Ashleigh dropped P. Schrott's throw for a forceout at second. A wild pitch advanced the runner to third and both galloped home when Johnny Lutz blasted a single to right.

When "Pee-wee" Scott and "Benny" Wilcox followed with clean singles, bringing home one more score, Ochso was dragged out and Walker appeared on the scene. Nelson's "squeeze" sacrifice brought Scott home and when Ed Daley, Bell and Gene Hitt all followed with clean singles, meaning three more runs, six in all, Anaheim looked and acted like a beaten ball team. Bell was called out at third, trying to go from first to third on Hitt's safety, and Hill, up for the second time, grounded out to close the frame.

Back For More Meat
The locals took up right where they quit in the second, Foote leading off with a double to left, going to third on a wild pitch and racing home when Lutz singled sharply to center. Scott hit to Ashleigh and Lutz was safe at second when Marten muffed the attempted forceout toss. A passed ball sent Lutz to third and he scored when Nelson grounded to first base.

Santa Ana picked up another after two were away in the third when Hill got a walk, stole second, went to third on P. Schrott's error on Foote's grounder and scored on Lutz's third consecutive single.

The demoralized Colonists let the Stars push over three more counts in the fourth. With one gone, Nelson singled to center and went right around to third when Merrill kicked the well-kissed wallop. Cole who had replaced Daley, hit one at George S. Briggs, 644 North Broadway, well known Santa Ana sportsman and big game hunter, was undecided today whether he would leave Monday on his eighth trip into the wilderness where he hides the moose and caribou of the great Northwest.

Briggs' trip will depend on information that is contained in a telegram expected momentarily from British Columbia, which was to tell whether he could have the services of a certain experienced guide.

"Unless I can be sure of obtaining the use of a certain man I shall not go north this summer," Briggs stated. "I have made too many trips already with inefficient natives guiding me into the hunting territory."

If he goes, the big game hunter will traverse the Telegraph creek district in pursuit not only of moose and caribou but also of bear, sheep and wild goats.

Unless he can make satisfactory arrangements, Briggs said he would plan a hunting trip into Arizona.

Briggs already has made more trips into the big game district than any hunter in the west.

Baker Training
At Soper Ranch

SOPER'S RANCH, Calif., Aug. 11.—Sergeant Sammy Baker, Minn. R. L. hunter, is in training here for his bout August 29 in Los Angeles when he meets Mushy Callahan, junior welterweight champion, with the latter posting his 140 pound title in their second meeting of the year. Last month Baker stopped Callahan in Chicago in nine rounds in a bout in which both came in overweight.

'SMART MONEY' ON PAOLINO IN BOUT TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—With a real load of the "wise money" and the spare change of the whole Spanish colony riding with him, Paolino Uscudun will go into the ring with Jack Delaney tonight for a contest that may either make or break him as a championship prospect.

They are both gambling on a chance to get a crack at the heavyweight championship next year but Paolino is taking the bigger gamble. Delaney has everything to gain and practically nothing to lose. If he is defeated he can find the excuse of size and strength against him and he can go back to the light heavyweight division, where he ruled as champion until he resigned the title.

Paolino has everything to lose. If he is defeated he will explode into a small time heavyweight and if he wins he will have to answer: "Why shouldn't you beat that little fellow with all your size and strength?"

It is the writer's opinion that Paolino will win principally because he is bigger and stronger than Delaney, because he has more resistance against punishment and has more endurance for 15 rounds.

In all his fights he grew stronger as the bout progressed and Delaney simply can't do it. He isn't built for it.

Paolino never has been knocked out or knocked off his feet and there isn't a gamer or tougher man in the game. Delaney has taken several on the whiskers and his hands have cracked up on him several times.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Possibility of a Rene La Coste-William Tilden match in the finals of the Meadow club's invitation tournament were lessened here today as reports circulated that Tilden would withdraw.

Added significance was contained in the announcement that La Coste and Jacques Brugnon, French Davis cup players, had defaulted in the doubles division.

La Coste gave as the reason, "Brugnon is too tired to play."

ON HIS TOES

BILL COOK

When Bill Cook, Santa Ana junior college's new pigskin professor, announced today that he would hold the season's first practice on the afternoon of September 6, he spoke the first football piece of the summer. Cook is on his toes and fears no opposition the season may bring forth. He hopes to develop a pennant winner.

CHAMP'S PILOT SAYS BIG BOUT WON'T BE LONG

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Exuding optimism with every statement, Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, has arrived in Chicago to start working for the heavyweight championship between Jack Dempsey and Tunney September 22.

Seated in a very elaborate cottage on top of one of the loop hotels, Gibson mentioned casually that the fight in September wouldn't last long.

"Tunney was cautious in Philadelphia," Gibson said. "He wanted to find out what Dempsey had. He did. I can safely say the next fight won't go near the limit."

The champion in great shape, Gibson said, and is in training now at Speculator, N. Y.

"That to my mind is the greatest training site in the world," the champion's manager said. "I only wish we could continue our training there."

However, the Illinois boxing commission has ruled that the fighters must train for at least a couple of weeks in Illinois so Gibson is seeking a place for the champion to work out. He wants a place where all fadom can watch Tunney and "where wire facilities are available for the newspapermen who will follow the champion. That is a big advantage."

Tunney will not come to Chicago until about two weeks before the fight, but Dempsey is expected to leave Los Angeles Sunday and will do all his heavy training in Illinois.

BILL COOK, NEW J. C. GRID TUTOR, AMBITIOUS; ISSUES CALL FOR PRACTICE SEPT. 6

Not at all apprehensive about his present prospect of becoming custodian within a month of a wife and a football team (both his first), Andrew Jackson (Bill) Cook, former University of Southern California football satellite and assistant coach, was here today prospecting a bit on behalf of his recently acquired Santa Ana junior college grid squad.

Cook, a curly-haired, pleasant-mannered chap with an engaging smile, is ambitious and he doesn't mind admitting it. He hopes to put athletics at Santa Ana college on a higher plane, is trying to encourage all the prep stars in Orange county to make this their alma mater and he is dead in earnest when he says there is no reason why a junior college team can't be a winning team.

The one-time football and track idol of Anaheim, for Cook still makes his home at the Mother Colony, will make Miss Kathryn Cravath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. "Gavy" Cravath, his bride Saturday and the couple will depart for a honeymoon in the north immediately after the ceremony at Laguna Beach.

Announces Practice Date
Cook will return before the first of September and when he came right out today and said he would issue a call for candidates to report Tuesday, September 6, a week in advance of formal opening of college, he spoke the first real bona fide football piece of the season. Incidentally, he proved his heart is in his work and that he figures a week's head start is not to be sneered at.

Cook brought word that two seasoned players from last year's Anaheim prep eleven, runner-up for the county title, are likely to enroll at the local institution this fall. The men are Lehr, halfback, and Fisher, end.

The new Santa Ana mentor is not kidding himself about the seriousness of his task. He realizes as well as anybody that his material will be limited and that he will have to pit his boys up against sterner competition than Santa Ana junior collegians have been meeting in the past.

New World's to Conquer
For one thing, it is quite probable that Santa Ana will have to dispose of two brand new entries in the field as well as the old run of competitors and the newcomers are quite apt to be tough customers, even if they are youngsters in the game. Long Beach and Glendale are the babies in the conference and they figure to draw the cream of the talent from the high schools in their cities.

San Bernardino, the new member of the circuit last fall, made a strong bid in every line of sport and finished in the upper division consistently even if its material was composed entirely of freshmen. With all its lettermen returning, the Berdoo entry will be watched closely.

Pasadena, champion in every major sport in 1926-27, expects to repeat in football this fall even if the squad was hard hit by graduation. Coach Frank Baker expects to inherit a whole football team from the high school "grads" and with what is left from his old pennant-winning machine he is certain to guide the Pirates high in the race.

Riverside and Citrus colleges will be strong adversaries and Fullerton has been improving with each season and the coming one may be its big year.

Bear Gridmen To Tour 2584 Miles

BERKELEY, Aug. 11.—The California varsity football team will travel a total of 2584 miles this season to play three games away from home against conference opponents.

The Golden Bears will travel 771 miles to Portland and back for their game on October 15 against Oregon; 471 miles and return for the contest against Southern California, at Los Angeles, October 23, and finish the season with a 50-mile motor trip to Palo Alto for the "big game" with Stanford November 19.

WARDENS FEAR FIRE HAZARDS IN MOUNTAINS

Hunters will be hunted in Orange county this fall. That is, they will be watched as carefully as it is possible for game wardens and fire wardens to watch them.

The reason for scrutiny, as explained by County Game Warden W. E. Adkinson of Trabuco canyon, is that the fire hazards are worse than Adkinson has known them in 20 years.

"The grass is high and dry, and just any kind of a bit of carelessness with fire may start a fire that would do a great amount of damage," Adkinson said.

While reporting the necessity of carefulness in guarding matches, lighted cigar and cigaret stubs and campfires, Adkinson also reports that high grass and ample water annual quail crop.

"There are more young quail than I have seen in years," Adkinson said. "Doves, too, are plentiful."

The dove season in this section will open September 1 and last through the months of September and October. Quail can be legally hunted during the month of December only. The deer season opens on the morning of September 16 and ends at sundown October 15.

"Hunters will have to be careful where they hunt this year," Adkinson continued, "for the big ranches are posting their boundaries and are arranging to take vigorous steps to keep hunters off their property."

The O'Neill ranch has just been posted completely, and additional riders will be on guard during the hunting season. Riders along San Juan canyon are already hot on the trail of trespassers. The cattle need the grass and the O'Neill manager does not want to take any chances about getting it burned off.

It is reported that the Irvine company pastures have all been completely posted, and riders will see to it that hunters keep on their side of the fence.

The home run habit has become a joke, thinks Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club. I am inclined to agree with him. Unquestionably a circuit walk is one of the big thrills of baseball. I am surprised that it has retained its great popularity when one considers the monotonous regularity with which the players make them.

Two years ago any player capable of amassing a total of 10 home runs for the season was sure to lead the league in that respect. Now a league leader usually boasts about 40.

MERCURY-LIKE

FRANKIE KLOPP

A 22-year old magazine salesman is today world's amateur roller skating champion. He is Frankie Klopff of Reading, Pa., and he earned the title in competition with the best skaters of America and Canada. To win his title, Klopff established a record time for the half-mile distance, and also won the two-mile and five-mile events.

NIGHT LEAGUE LEADERS CLASH HERE TONIGHT

With a chance to go into first place, temporarily at least, in the torrid Santa Ana Night Baseball league race, the climbing Platt Silvertowns go against the league-leading F. C. Blauer Grocers at Lincoln park tonight.

This will be the first time this summer that "Benny" Wilcox, generally acknowledged to be the city's leading submarine slasher, has gone against the Blauers, without doubt the loop's hardest-hitting aggregation. Walter ("Dizzy") Jordan is the Blauer heater.

Contrary to previous announcements there will be no doubleheader, the Platts and Blauers mixing it at 8 o'clock.

Philadelphia, New York and St. Louis have playing fields that will not admit of Griffith's 320-foot home run at the foul-line limits. Since it is an impossibility to change the concrete stadiums to provide the extra distance, the fault can be remedied by a zoning system.

The stands in the parks that are less than 320 feet could be so marked that ball passing on one side of a big white line would be two bases or three bases, as might be agreed on, while hits to the other side of the line would be regulation home runs.

ARLINGTON TO BE FIRST S. A. PLAYOFF RIVAL

Santa Ana's first start in the round-robin series for the night baseball championship of Southern California will be made at home, Lincoln park, next Wednesday evening, it was learned definitely here today. Arlington, champion of the American Night Ball association, will be the local team's opponent.

Undisputed monarch of the Orange county division, the Santa Anans will compete in a four-game series with Arlington and Long Beach, titleholder in the National Night Ball league.

In the playoffs, each side will meet the other twice, once at home and once abroad. Four umpires appointed from neutral cities, will officiate at all of the contests. Should the teams be tied at the close of the series, the playoff will be taken to neutral diamond.

Games will be played Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights during the next two weeks. The schedule follows:

Monday, Aug. 15 — Long Beach at Arlington.
Wednesday, Aug. 17 — Arlington at Santa Ana.
Friday, Aug. 19 — Santa Ana at Long Beach.
Monday, Aug. 22 — Arlington at Long Beach.
Wednesday, Aug. 24 — Santa Ana at Arlington.
Friday, Aug. 26 — Long Beach at Santa Ana.

Arrangements for the series were completed at a meeting of the executive committee of the Southern California Night Ball association at Anaheim last evening. An open meeting of the organization will be held at Anaheim next Tuesday.

Bears Expect 70 Experienced Men

BERKELEY, Aug. 11.—When the University of California's football practice starts September 15 there will be 70 men with varied experience on hand, Coach "Nibs" Price said today.

Colima, Judge Mix Tomorrow

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—Bert Colima, Whittier Mexican middleweight, and Mark Judge of Phoenix Ariz. concluded training today for their bout of 10 rounds or less at Hollywood stadium tomorrow night.

Washington's right-field wall is 328 feet from the home plate, while the left-field distance is 353 feet. Either takes a real drive to clear.

There is no denying that some of the modern home runs must be rated at least a pretty good laugh because of the many joke features connected with them.

The animated baseball has played a most important part in the orgy of slugging that has featured the game for almost 10 years. However, it is my belief that the small ball parks have been an even more prominent factor.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

TELESCOPE IS FASHIONED BY YOUNG RANCHER

ANAHEIM, Aug. 11.—Star gazing, with the aid of a home-made telescope, is a pastime that pays a hundred fold what it costs, in satisfaction and real enjoyment, declares Cortez Hoskins, young Anaheim rancher, who has just completed the construction of a thoroughly efficient 10-inch telescope to aid him in carrying on a study of the heavens started less than a year ago.

The instrument, which is revealing some startling facts about the heavens hidden from the naked eye, stands firmly bedded in cement on the roof of an unused tank house at the rear of the Hoskins' ranch home on the state highway about one mile south of Anaheim.

Simple in principle and design, the telescope consists of a piece of thick plate glass, 10 inches in diameter, ground by Hoskins into a concave mirror, this mirror encased in a six-foot metal tube along with a right-angle prism and a magnifying eye-piece located at the opposite end of the metal tube.

Light from the stars or other heavenly bodies which the observer wishes to study is caught on the concave mirror, reflected as a narrower beam of light into the prism and thence into the eye-piece.

Young Hoskins, who stated that he has always liked chemistry and similar lines of study, completed his new "toy" at a cost of about $30.

This comparatively low cost is assigned by Hoskins to the fact that he was able to construct most of the telescope himself. The only parts of the instrument that were not made by his hands are the metal casing or tube, which shop classes at the Anaheim union high school constructed under Hoskins' direction, and the eye-piece, which he purchased.

Work on the instrument occupied most of Hoskins' spare hours during the past eight months, most of this time being required in the grinding of the 10-inch plate glass mirror. This operation was the most exacting of all.

Grinding of the mirror or lens required some 30 hours of work, all in all.

The night when finishing touches were placed on the telescope and it stood ready for adjustment and testing out is still a memorable one to Hoskins and the small group of friends who had gathered for the event.

The final work had kept them far into the night and it was 2 o'clock in the morning before success was definitely assured.

The Hoskins' "observatory" has been attracting quite a number of people interested in this extremely diverting pastime of star gazing.

Auto Owner Gets Lots Of Service As Car "Burns"

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 11.—W. M. White is complaining the fact that he can not start his machine without calling the fire department and the police department.

Yesterday, when he started his machine in front of his garage at 311 Eleventh street, neighbors saw a huge billow of smoke and, thinking that the machine had caught fire, the neighbors rang for the fire department.

Hearing the fire alarm, Jack Tinsley, chief of police, who lives across the street, ran out to learn the trouble and saw the smoke. He extinguished the "fire" by turning off the motor.

Of 17 notices to drill posted with the bureau during the week, Huntington Beach has four. Six new wells are scheduled for Kern county, the report reads, but for a single field, Huntington Beach leads the list.

The Standard Oil company will drill a hole to be known as Bolsa No. 31. The Globe Lease and Royalty company will drill a well. The Bell of Montebello Oil company's new well will be known as No. 5-A. Harry B. Custer will drill a well.

A new well is scheduled for Richfield to be known as the California Petroleum corporation's Bradford No. 7.

Redrilling and deepening activities are scheduled for 21 wells in the state, of which 13 are located in Orange county. The Miley Oil company's Pacific Electric No. 5 and the Harry B. Custer No. 1 are the two local wells to be deepened.

IN NEED OF FUNDS

Those in charge of the Orange County Children's Health camp in the Santiago canyon are in a quandary.

The question before them is: "How can we keep up the camp without more money than we have in sight?"

In brief, a decision must be reached as to whether the health camp shall be closed September 1.

The leaders in the organization had hoped that funds sufficient for keeping the camp open the year around would be available this year. According to a report from the organization today, the probability is that the camp will have to be closed soon.

The camp is financed partly through the sale of Christmas seals, partly through private donations and partly through county aid. Of these, but one source, that of private donations, is open for call to keep the camp open to the end of this year.

During this summer, no less than forty-seven children have been at the camp, the maximum registration being fifty-six. The cost of maintaining the camp is watched closely by the officers, and through them assurance is given the public that more than a dollar's worth of material and service is given for every dollar spent. While it is impossible to put anything like a dollar and cents value on health, the results obtained with the children who are taken into the camp have a money value far beyond the cost to the public. This value is represented not only in building up the body of a child but also in the reflected value of physical independence and good citizenship.

Another reason why boys and girls leave the farm may be that in the city they can cross the road under the shelter of a traffic policeman.

WALNUT PICKING SEASON

This is to be a great season for the walnut pickers. Scores of Mexican families are waiting for the first walnuts to fall. When that time arrives, the Mexicans, some in old automobiles and some in horse-drawn vehicles, will move to the orchards, there to camp until the season is over.

Walnut picking season, with many of the Mexicans, is the time of year when money is accumulated to pay off grocery bills. With many families more money will be earned in the next three months than in the remaining nine months of the year.

For the past three years, it has been "slim picking" for the pickers. Crops have been short. This year, however, the crop is one of the heaviest in the history of the industry. Indications are that nuts and hulls will be easily separated, and picking can be done rapidly. The local walnut association yesterday announced that growers are to pay 50 cents a sack for picking up the larger nuts, generally spoken of as budded nuts, and 75 cents for the smaller nuts. These prices are fair to both grower and picker.

The walnut association packing houses of the county have made all preparations for handling the huge crop. Everything is set for a successful season; the crop is on the trees, the associations are ready to get the product upon the market; the outlook for prices is satisfactory.

Sure, if there were no laws, there wouldn't be any law violation. Neither would there be any civilization.

BUYING POWER OF AMERICA

An economist finds that the present per capita wealth of the 12 leading countries in the world is as follows:

United States, $2919; Canada, $2675; United Kingdom, $2662; Australia, $2585; Denmark, $1737; France, $1285; Germany, $916; Japan, $890; Sweden, 774; Norway, $685; Italy, 552; Austria, $552.

This is illuminating to anyone who looks at the possibilities of world commerce with a fresh mind. What do the figures mean?

Primarily this: That the greatest field for American business in the world is right here at home—the greatest, most profitable market is the domestic market.

Secondarily: That in foreign trade, the British empire is incomparably more important than any other country, and probably as important as all the rest of the world together. And that by far the richest part of that great, polyglot empire is the English-speaking part of it.

The "riches of the Orient" are a myth.

In other words, the market offered for American products by Canada, Great Britain and Australia follows closely after the American domestic market.

Of all foreign markets, Canada, right at our door and easily accessible, is the best per unit of population, and near the best in total consumption of American goods, with Great Britain next per unit of population and first in total consumption, and with Australia a rich and steadily growing field for American trade in the future.

Yet some Americans, still harping on unpleasant events of more than a century ago, ask what practical good it does to be friendly with the British.

One of the things that make a fisherman sometimes doubt Providence is the strange absence of earthworms in good fishing regions.

SPENDING MEANS THRIFT

Most wage earners who have a real struggle keeping body and soul together are quite familiar with the adage, "It isn't what you earn, but what you save that counts."

William A. Schneider, counselor on personal financial problems to the employees of a big electric manufacturing company, disagrees.

In discussing how to get ahead financially, he advocates spending—judicious spending which constitutes in the final analysis, saving. He advocates spending for life insurance, for a home, for education, for investments.

Incidentally, Mr. Schneider's position is sufficiently unique and yet so obviously worth while that one wonders why other firms haven't thought to provide "personal financial counselors" for their employees, thus cashing in on the idea that the unworried and contented employee means fat coffers for the employer.

Figures on State Debts

Some interesting figures have been compiled on the total debts of the different states and California's showing is such to suggest that we have been reasonably conservative in the matter of voting state bonds; moreover, the bonds voted for land settlement projects and for veterans welfare do not constitute a permanent debt; the state is simply loaning its credit and the bonds will ultimately be all paid off by funds received from the beneficiaries of those propositions, and not by money raised by taxation. The following figures on the per capita indebtedness of a representative list of states will be found of interest:

California	$23.24
Washington	72.49
Nevada	23.48
Maine	28.82
Massachusetts	23.16
Rhode Island	27.66
New York	30.17
Minnesota	32.87
North Dakota	48.12
South Dakota	85.15
Louisiana	26.75
Delaware	45.45
West Virginia	31.15
North Carolina	50.17

The per capita debt in a number of southern states is very low; Oklahoma, for example, reports only 70 cents, and Texas only 75 cents; in general, however, these states reporting only a small debt have done little in the way of highways and other public improvements.

The Great Hot Dog Issue

At Scarsdale the authority of "Joe the Hot Dog King" is threatened by a city ordinance. Holding that no municipality is within its rights in forbidding the honest and open sale of hot dogs, Joe is keeping his stand open, selling the dogs, and defying a city council. The situation resulting is admirably adapted to dog day consideration.

The Scarsdale supporters of Joe and his article of trade would make a test case. Proposing to take a bun and a wienerwurst right up to the door of the supreme court, they have made the issue one of Constitutional rights. The opposition replies that hot dog stands are not esthetic and hot dogs when taken in numbers too large, cause small boys to have the collywobblers.

"I'll get the best lawyer in the land," threatens the king of the hot dog dealers. "Go ahead," replies the Scarsdale city administration, and another national issue develops under the eyes and noses of the electorate.

Not Competing For Density

Having been taught for generations that Belgium is the most thickly settled nation on earth now we must unlearn it. A British government report says that England now holds first place, with 250 inhabitants to the square kilometer, against Belgium's 245. These figures will interest Americans more if compared with our states. Rhode Island with 226 is more populous than any country in the world except the two leaders, and Massachusetts with 181 closely follows Holland, the third most densely populated nation, which has 200. New Jersey with 168 exceeds Japan, the fourth nation in density with 151. The United States as a whole has fourteen inhabitants to the square kilometer.

California still has plenty of wide open spaces, the state averaging eleven persons to the square kilometer. We will be glad to trade some of the space for the right kind of people, but they ought to be pretty good to get any of it. There is something to be said in favor of elbow room, and there is not much sense in competing for mere numbers.

HOW SPORTS AFFECT HEALTH

As mankind turns more and more to outdoor sports, he finds that there is an increasingly greater call for work upon the heart.

It must be remembered that the heart is but one of the organs of the human body and that any change which affects the rest of the body is likely to affect the heart at the same time. When unusual demands are placed upon the heart, it will, like other organs, enlarge to accommodate those demands. An investigation of the hearts of champion skiers or mountain hikers revealed enlargements, although in some instances little above the hearts of non-athletes. A severe sudden effort thrown suddenly upon the heart unused to work may result in sudden acute enlargement, at great danger to life.

Drs. Felix Deutsch and Emil Kauf of the heart clinic in Vienna have made a special study of changes in heart associated with exercise. The hearts of persons of similar body build indulging in ordinary amounts of exercise, are not enlarged over those of persons who do not exercise, but are better in their functional capacity.

In the words of the German investigators, exercise for pleasure does not cause enlargement of the heart, but on the contrary produces a strengthening of the whole organism.

When competitive athletics are concerned, however, different observations are made. The hearts of competitive swimmers were found to be slightly larger than those of normal persons. The danger to the heart is not so great in the young as in the adult who first undertakes severe exercise.

Incidentally, some observations made on various types of swimming are of importance to those concerned with this subject. Apparently it did not matter whether the observations were made on persons doing the crawl, the breast stroke, or swimming on the back. The dive for distance does not bring about severe changes in the heart and long distance swimmers were not found to have hearts larger than those of sprint swimmers.

Water polo, however, leads to a greater enlargement of the heart than does any other form of swimming. This is one of the most severe sports, demanding special exercise and inducing greater excitement in the swimmer. The enlargements of the heart in women swimmers were proportionately not so great as in men. This the German investigators believe, is due to the fact that men spend much more strength and energy in their sports than women do.

The Thoughts of Youth

Pomona Progress-Bulletin

"A boy's will is the wind's will, and the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

How long those thoughts may be only a boy can tell, and he never would, because of all things sacred those "long" thoughts are the most unapproachable; those matters the boy keeps in the holy of holies of his heart, the abiding place of other sweet memories or fateful wounds, as the legs grow long and the arms strong, and the world throws open the door that leads to labor. In the palpitating years of the "long" thoughts the boy lives a century; indeed, before the 'teens be passed his three score of years and ten are done and gone. For in that time he has scaled the mountains, conquered the obstacles, slain his dragon, negotiated his pitfalls and thrust carelessly aside the puny, clinging tentacles of stubborn facts, of his own world is king.

Many an empire towers to the skies in those queer days when all things are possible; its bricks the confidence of a few years; its foundation simple faith, its coping stone the glorious riotous imagination which knows none of the sad limits of maturity. The beautiful thing is that when the foggy era ensues, that period when one reluctant foot drags in boyhood and the other impatiently at the door of adolescence, the foundation remains. This he will not perceive until the cloud lifts again, and he finds the bricks crumbled and the coping stone fled to wherever imagination is born.

Dreams, it seems, are a poor investment. The "might have been" is always a thought with a twinge. The grip lessens and the old picture passeth, and the man is no longer the boy. Fleetingly the vision springs up like a negative, but always a little more indistinct until with a wistful sigh, the man realizes he must bend his back to the burden. Then, if he does so is amazed to find the same old vision forming the slow and shadowy background of his new edifice; the ghost lurking about the old foundation, which foundation was, and is, faith.

Worth While Verse

DOVER BEACH

The sea is calm tonight.
The tide is full, the moon lies fair
Upon the Straits—on the French coast the light
Gleams and is gone; the cliffs of England stand, Glimmering and vast, out in the tranquil bay.
Come to the window, sweet is the night air!
Only, from the long line of spray
Where the sea meets the moon-blanch'd sand,
Listen! you hear the grating roar
Of pebbles which the waves draw back, and fling.
At their return, up the high strand,
Begin, and cease, and then again begin,
With tremulous cadence slow, and bring The eternal note of sadness in.

Ah, love, let us be true
To lie before us like a land of dreams,
To one another! for the world, which seems
So various, so beautiful, so new,
Hath really neither joy, nor love, nor light,
Nor certitude, nor peace, nor help for pain,
And we are here as on a darkling plain Swept with confused alarms of struggle and flight,
Where ignorant armies clash by night.

Live Articles from an Expert on Municipal Problems

ARE CITY TAXES GOING UP?

Measuring Dollars in Their Actual Purchasing Power Makes a Difference in the Apparent Figures.

Why can't local government taxes be reduced as federal taxes are coming down? That question, either openly asked or in the back of the mind, is foremost in the discussion of the cost of local government everywhere.

It would be very helpful if in attempting to answer it we could put the financial statistics of all the cities and towns and school districts of the country on a comparable basis, but in such a big country as ours, with such variations in the form of local institutions, that can't be done.

Fortunately, a study of the figures for one great American city, Detroit, have been made for us by Mr. Lent D. Upson, of the bureau of municipal research of that city. Mr. Upson is not only well qualified for that task by his experience in Detroit, but also by reason of the fact that the nearest approach to a compendium of comparative financial statistics of cities that is available is his annual review of the affairs of the 250 cities of this country that have more than thirty thousand people.

Mr. Upson has reduced the problem to terms of the average home owner. Taxes paid are a combination of the rate of taxation levied and the valuation of property for taxation by the assessors—a combination of two variable quantities that make the direct comparison of tax figures between any two cities a most dangerous thing.

By taking the average Detroit home Mr. Upson has endeavored to escape this danger. Ten years ago, in the year we entered the World war, the average Detroit home was assessed at $3,340. (Remember Detroit is a city of small, detached houses.) The tax rate that year was $13.81 per thousand dollars for educational and other municipal purposes. Ten years ago, then, the owner of that average home in Detroit paid $46.12 in taxes for his city government and his schools.

This year, after ten years have gone by and the World war is over and cosmic streams have flowed under the bridges of time, where does that average Detroit home owner find himself in the matter of taxes?

In the first place, the assessed value of his home has gone up from $3,340 to $5,000. In the second place, the tax rate has gone up from $13.81 per $1,000 to $22.57. In the third place the amount of taxes he pays has gone up from $46.12 to $112.83.

That is in Detroit. In that same ten years Detroit's governmental costs have increased more rapidly than have the costs of most cities and towns. Other cities and towns may congratulate themselves on that—no matter if their costs have gone up they haven't gone up as high as they have in Detroit. These will be the same cities and towns that are envious because they haven't grown as rapidly and progressed as much in ten years as has Detroit, but why bother about that? When was logical consistency a thing of joy and beauty?

But is it fair to leave even the Detroit home owner with those cold figures? Shall we say his tax bill has gone up from $46 to $112 and leave it at that? Mr. Upson thinks not, and I agree with him. We have to take into consideration the purchasing power of the dollar. Mr. Upson admits that it is difficult precisely to measure the relative power of the dollar expended for municipal services a decade ago with that of today, because municipal dollars are expended for services and materials in ways and under conditions slightly different from those of ordinary commerce. But taking the best figures available, those worked out by the economists and which are used in the ordinary industrial and commercial business of the country; figures which the bankers and the government and the industrialists apply to the trade of the Nation, then what do we find? These figures take us back to 1914, the year in which the World War started.

In 1914 Detroit collected in taxes for each man, woman and child the sum of $17.25. Last year the per capita tax was $54.04. In these 12 years the per capita tax has tripled, as measured in dollars. Taking into consideration the actual purchasing power of the dollar, as indicated by the wholesale commodity index, we find that this per capita tax is $34.15. In other words Detroit taxes have only doubled instead of tripled. But Detroit has grown so rapidly and has therefore so many extraordinary costs that few if any cities have had such a great increase. Tomorrow we will discuss the tax trend in other cities. The Fog

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

SO often we don't trouble to explain things to the child because we simply assume he won't understand anyway. Well, he may not grasp all of an explanation the first time, but his eager little mind will add bit to bit each time and gradually get the whole conception. Fog, for instance, is not so difficult to explain as one might at first think. Fog is moisture which gathers on the myriads of little dust particles always floating in the air, but it only happens when warm moist air strikes colder air, as when air from the hilltop drops to the valley, then the moisture gathers on these dust particles so we can see it and we call it fog.

ON a very early morning
I once took a walk at dawn.
When the great sun should be climbing
In its journey 'cross the sky.
But the lake and road and meadows
Lay in strangerest misty shadows
So I couldn't see the garden
Or the tree tops reaching high.

Daddy said it was a fog cloud,
Like a wet and misty smoke shroud
That often settles o'er the earth
Before the break of day.
Then the sun shot sunbeams through it
While the south wind came and blew it
And I saw the fog cloud lifting Till it vanished quite away.
